BERNSTORFF GIVES LANSING NOTE FROM ENTIRE TOWNS ARE GERMAN; CONTENTS ARE NOT GIVEN OUT LEVELED BY WIND

New York, Oct. 2.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, delivered to Secretary Lansing today a note from the German government concerning the Arabic case, which, it is understood, affords a negotiable basis for the settlement of the question.

The ambassador was closeted with Secretary Lansing for only a few minutes, leaving with him a note, the contents of which was not disclosed. Both the secretary and the ambassador decided that nothing concerning it would be announced. It is understood that the secretary will take the note with him to Washington and after discussing it with President Wilson will indicate whether or not it is satisfactory.

It was learned reliably that the note furnishes a basis for further negotiations and from this it was inferred, that while admitting the principle that merchantmen would not be torpedoed without warning, Germany was anxious to submit to arbitration the question of fact as to whether or not the Arabic was engaged in a hostile act at the time she was torpedoed and how much indemnity must be paid as a consequence if the verdict is against the German commander.

Bandit Surrenders So Officer--Friend Can Get Reward, Is Foiled

Columbus, Oct. 2.—So that Pooleman H. H. Shaw, a former acquaintance, could get $1,000 reward offered for his arrest Edward Laftus, alias Joe Ryan, gave himself up to police officers here today and confessed, according to the police, that he held up an express messenger on a train near Indianapolis, Ind., the night of Sept. 14, blew the safe and got away with $2,500 cash and some jewelry.

Officer Shaw is not permitted by law to accept the reward for Laftus' capture. Such rewards when paid go to the policemen's pension fund.

DR. COOK JAILED AS GERMAN SPY

San Francisco, Oct. 2.—Dr. Frederick Cook, who left San Francisco to climb Mt. Everest in the Himalayas, was arrested in Hongkong, Burmah, as a German spy, and his motion picture outfit confiscated, according to Curtis W. Allen, an American timber buyer, who has returned from an eleven months' trip in the far East.

Allen said that Dr. Cook was released later, but permission to climb Everest was withheld. The timberman, born in Amherst, Massachusetts, said he, himself, was arrested as a spy seven times in eleven months and at Hongkong was in the same jail with the explorer.

MACHINISTS PICKET CLEVELAND FACTORY

Cleveland, Oct. 2.—Pickets today were on duty at the plant of the Cleveland Automatic Machine Company, which closed last night following a strike of 600 machinists employed in making machinery for the manufacture of shells to fill war orders.

If strike breakers are used by the plant leaders of the strikers they will call out every machineist in Cleveland, numbering close to 20,000. A mass meeting of strikers at which their demands for shorter hours and wage increases will be made is to be held today. Officers of the company were awaiting the arrival of Arthur L. Garford of Elyria, president of the company, who was hurrying to the city by automobile to take charge of the situation.

BRITISH FORCES ARE REPULSED

Constantinople, Oct. 2.—(Via London.)—Announcement was made by the war office today that the British forces in Mesopotamia were repulsed in the recent fighting. The report follows:

The battle was very violent, but the attack finally failed, notwithstanding the fact that the British forces were four times stronger than ours.

On the Iraq front our advanced detachments on Sept. 28 surprised a hostile force which landed on the bank of the Tigris north of Korna, under the protection of gunboats. We inflicted heavy losses on them.

Announcement was made in the House of Commons on Wednesday that the British had defeated the Turks, who were said to be in full retreat toward Bagdad.

RUNS OVER GIRL, HIS WIFE FAINTS, AUTO RUNS AWAY

Cincinnati, Oct. 2.—Prevented from operating his brakes quickly because his wife had fainted and fallen upon him, Joseph Plagge, 1055 Overlook avenue, was unable to stop his automobile until it had run some distance after striking and killing Anna Smith, 13, Glenway avenue and Blanchard Place, Price Hill, Friday evening. This was the explanation made today.

Coroner Poertmeyer investigated and said the accident seemed to have been caused by the fact that the girl started across the street from the rear of a jitney bus without knowing of the other automobiles approach.

COLUMBUS RACES WILL END TODAY

Columbus, Oct. 2.—With a program of four events, the Columbus Grand Circuit racing meet will close today. The Buckeye $5,000 stake for 2:12 trotters which was to be decided yesterday when rain caused a postponement of all events, is the most attractive race on today's card. The 2:09 pace, in which Fern Hall won two heats and Fred Russell took one on Thursday, is to be finished. To complete the card, 2:01 pacers and 2:15 trotters will be called out.

Toledo, Oct. 2.—Fire early this morning damaged the Toledo Times building and contents to the extent of $30,000. The fire originated in the engraving plant on the third floor and spread to the linotype and stereotype rooms on the fourth floor. The roof collapsed and ruined much of the machinery in these departments. The business office on the main floor and basement and press room were flooded. The Times will be printed in another newspaper office for the present.

MURDERED BY A JEALOUS SUITOR

Mrs. May Whitney, piano player in a cafe, was murdered in Chicago a few days ago by Washington Irving Morley, once a leading member of the Kansas City Athletic club, architect, athlete and son of a Kansas City contractor, because she refused longer to continue a clandestine love affair. After shooting the woman Morley killed himself.

GERMANY'S DESIRE TO HARVEST EGYPT'S COTTON CROP EXPLAINS THE PROPOSED TEUTON DRIVE THROUGH SERBIA AND BULGARIA

Germany must have cotton for domestic consumption and for the manufacture of ammunition. As the American market has been denied her by the British fleet, it is said on the best of authority that she now plans a drive through hostile Serbia, friendly Bulgaria and Turkey, and thence to Egypt, where a big cotton crop is to be harvested. The heavy black line indicates the probable route of the Teutonic army which is now knocking at the gates of Serbia, in its long march to capture the cotton of Egypt.

AUSTRIA TO SEND RUMANIA ULTIMATUM; GERMANS USE BIG GUNS IN FIERCE DRIVE

Berlin, Oct. 2.—(via London.)—An attempt by the British to retake the ground lost north with a heavy loss, the war office announced today. Several French attacks were repulsed and a number of prisoners were taken.

London, Oct. 2.—A telegram from Amsterdam says that Austria is about to send an ultimatum to Rumania demanding the free passage of munitions to Turkey.

Paris, Oct. 2.—There has been a heavy German bombardment in the Artois district according to an announcement made by the French war office this afternoon. Nevertheless, the French forces have made perceptible progress in this district on the heights of La Poila.

French aeroplanes have been active in bombarding the railroad lines behind the German front, and during the night air craft guns bombarded the German lines.

London, Oct. 2.—The situation on the eastern front is still regarded in London as of the greatest immediate importance, notwithstanding the new offensive in the west. To transfer the center of gravity of the war to the western front is the task now before the French and British.

The menacing attitude of Bulgaria doubtless is having a marked effect on the activity of the allies with relative speed and allies in France and Belgium, for increasing pressure on the German lines would exert a decided influence on plans of the Austrians and Germans to concentrate a heavy force on the Serbian frontier, should they commit themselves to a fresh combination of the Balkans with the assistance of Bulgaria.

That nation now occupies, as Foreign Secretary Grey phrased it yesterday, the position Turkey held during those weeks of uncertainty before she cast her lot openly with the Central Powers. Some sections of the British press are urging Greece and Italy to strike quickly the instant it is determined that diplomacy is no longer able to avert a crisis.

"To wait until Bulgaria actually moves," says the Manchester Guardian, "is to surrender the strategic initiative to Germany."

"Between an Austro-German attack on Serbia and a Bulgarian attack there is no practical difference. For the allies the moment of decision has come. As soon as they are convinced Bulgaria is determined to make war there should be dispatched an ultimatum to her the choice of peace or war."

"Should Bulgaria accomplish the Germanic design of linking Berlin with Constantinople," the Guardian continues, "a very grave change will have come over the complexion of the war in this zone, a region where a far-reaching result might be achieved by the allies with relative speed and economy."

The strategic initiative must not be frittered away by faith in meaningless hopes or fear of resolute action.

Special dispatches from Petrograd all speak of the improvement of the Russian position, although there has been no noteworthy change in the Eastern front for some days. With the exception of some ground lost, The British are clinging tenaciously to the positions wrested from the Germans. The series of engagements on the French front in the last few days, has not altered conditions appreciably.

Paris, Oct. 2.—9:15 a. m.—It is reported from Athens that Bulgarian troops from Sofia are moving in the direction of the Serbian frontier, and that other forces are being dispatched toward the Greek border.

This information was forwarded today by the Athens correspondent of the Havas News Agency, who asserts it was obtained from a reliable source. It is believed the principal point of concentration will be along the upper Strouma river, southwest of Sofia, near the Serbian border.

WORLD SERIES STARTS IN PHILA ON FRIDAY

New York, Oct. 2.—The National Commission at its meeting today decided that the first game of the world's series shall be played in Philadelphia Friday, October 8. The second game is set for the next day, October 9 in the same city. The third and fourth games will be played in Boston on October 11 and 12, respectively, the fifth in Philadelphia, on October 13 and the sixth in Boston on October 14.

It was decided that in case a seventh game was necessary, the city in which it was to be played would be decided by the toss of a coin before the beginning of the sixth game. The four umpires who will arbitrate in the field and on the foul lines were selected by the presidents of the two leagues. President Tener named Charles Riger and W. J. Klem as the National league representatives, while President Johnson selected William Evans and Frank O'Loughlin to act for the American league. The National Commission named J. G. T. Spink, at its representative among the officials.

REPUBLICANS FAIL TO MENTION PROHIBITION

Boston, Oct. 2.—Among the planks in the Republican platform recommended for adoption by the Republican state convention here today, those favoring a constitutional convention, biennial election, a short ballot, revision of the tariff by an independent commission, an adequate armed force against aggression, and criticism of the national policy toward Mexico, stood out prominently as the principal campaign issues. Women's suffrage and National prohibition were not mentioned.

The platform in part said: "Protection for American industry has long been the cornerstone of every Republican platform. The spasmodic and scattered war contracts are a poor substitute for the secure and steady markets. We demand a competent and independent tariff commission such as the Democratic party has abolished, which shall furnish the facts for an equal, impartial, unsectional law. The Democratic tariff is a failure."

"We condemn the national policy toward Mexico. It has been vacillating, prejudiced and partial, by turns unwisely timed and unwisely pugnacious."

"As to the present war in Europe, it is our earnest desire that the peace of the United States should be maintained with firmness, dignity and honor, and we believe that to secure this end we should observe a strong neutrality, insisting upon our neutral rights and rigidly performing our duties as a neutral country. The war has demonstrated that no nation is safe against attack. We believe that our military strength

I've been readin' a lot here of late about th' Germans buildin' permanent highways at th' rate of twenty-five miles a day. I don't know if that's so or not but if it is we ought to send some contractors to 'em to get a few pointers. Keep a boostin'; th' Korn Karnival is gettin' nearer every day. Here's th' weather:

Ohio—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday.

Kentucky—Generally fair to night and Sunday.

West Virginia—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday.

JITNEY HEARING DEFERRED UNTIL AFTER K. KARNIVAL

The matter of a final hearing on the "jitney" ordinance before council decides upon some definite policy with regard to the proposed legislation has, by mutual agreement, been deferred until after the Korn Karnival.

"The people are so completely carried away with the Karnival spirit already that we deemed it inadvisable to take any further steps just now," said one of the lawyers, Thursday night.

Judge A. Z. Blair, speaking for the "jitney" people, said that they were absolutely willing to be regulated and to be put under proper restrictions that "they seem fit to impose in order to safeguard the public, but we do not wish to be driven out of business." The jitney people, said he, were not willing to give indemnity bonds, for no other business has been hindered.

"Jitney" buses made their appearance in Portsmouth since the last Korn Karnival, and from all indications seemed to have become a fixed common carrier on the streets of this city.

Sure of One Thing. The Town Council of a thriving Scotch town recently acquired a plan for their town hall, and appointed three of their number to inspect and report on the purchase. The council were not mustered experts, but one of the judges, bending down and applying his eye to the several corners of the instrument, remarked: "I'm nae judge o' mure, but I'll warrant ye a' the boards are plumb."

SENDS TELEGRAM FROM THIS CITY ACCEPTING WINDLE'S CHALLENGE

A challenge issued in Columbus Thursday by Hon. C. A. Windle, who has been heard here during wet and dry campaigns, has been accepted by E. J. Hall, a dry speaker of ability.

Arguments between these two orators, which had been handed back and forth were brought to a head Friday when E. J. Hall, who was passing through this city en route to Ironton left with Conrad Roth for forwarding the following acceptance to Mr. Windle's challenge issued in Columbus Thursday:

Inasmuch as Mr. C. A. Windle and the Ohio Temperance Union have evaded my challenge to debate the question "Resolved that the saloon is a detriment to the State of Ohio"—as per my challenge given at Memorial Hall, Columbus, O., September 29, 1915, and that he has issued a counter challenge through the Ohio State Journal, dated of October 1st, I accept his challenge as published, and I name the following cities, and these only as the ones where the debates are to take place: Toledo, Wauson, Bryan, Wooster, Findlay, Mt. Vernon, Ashland, Steubenville, as I am booked solid until election day, this itinerary cannot be changed. He can meet T. T. Frankenburg, Chamber of Commerce building, Columbus, O., and arrange details. If Mr. Windle signs up and does not crawl out of his published challenge I will present a check to the editor of the Journal, Citizen and Dispatch for $50.00 each to be paid by them to delivering newsboys of Columbus. Now Windle, that I've called your bluff, walk up like a gentleman and sign up, or forever hold your peace.

(Signed) EDWARD J. HALL. Relative to the challenge for a debate on this much mooted unsettled question the Columbus Dispatch of Thursday said: Mr. Windle, Thursday, issued a counter challenge to E. J. Hall, a dry speaker, who had asked for a joint debate on prohibition. The counter challenge was that there be eight debates in as many cities in Ohio between now and the election, and that each debater put up $250 for each discussion, with the understanding that if more than half of the eight cities go dry, the total sum be given to the Anti-Saloon League and that if the reverse is true the money go to some wet organization.

Rally Week at the Y. W. C. A. started with a reception and banquet at the Association building, Monday night. Much enthusiasm was shown and the spirit of co-operation between local pastors and Association workers was apparent.

The new president of the board of directors, Mrs. Henry Heer, presided, introducing the speakers, Miss Harrison, field secretary, and Miss Heacock, local secretary. Miss Alice Blake's orchestra added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening.

Tuesday night a meeting was held in the High School gymnasium to introduce attractive fall classes to the general public. Informal talks and a solo by Norma Hark Young were followed by class registrations.

Wednesday afternoon an assembly of High School girls was called in the auditorium to hear the presentation of Y. W. C. A. work in High School clubs. Miss Bugh was the speaker of the occasion.

The rest of the week was taken up with social and business sessions. Plans are on foot for new features in educational, membership, social and religious work. New classes are being formed to begin October 12. Register early at the Y. W. C. A. booth next week or at the Association building.

During the many activities and social events in connection with the work of the Young Women's Christian Association this week Portsmouth people have had the pleasure of meeting the new secretaries who have received a most cordial welcome.

Miss Kate M. Heacock, of Falls City, Neb., comes well qualified to fill the position of general secretary, having completed a year's course at the National Training School of the Young Women's Christian Association in New York City. Her former experience in this work was as secretary in the Association at Lincoln.

WELCOME TO NEW PASTOR IS GIVEN BY BIBLE CLASS

About forty members of the Men's Fellowship Bible class of the Presbyterian church, taught by Attorney B. F. Kimble, attended the get-together banquet held in the basement of the church Friday evening with Rev. George P. Horst as the guest of honor.

Fred Winters was toastmaster. W. L. Watson, president of the class, C. E. Dowling, W. W. Gates, Jr., B. F. Kimble and Rev. Horst made short speeches. All enjoyed the delightful affair.

The music of the evening was furnished by Miss Edna Marling as soloist and accompanist, Miss Laura White as violinist, and Mrs. B. F. Kimble as vocal soloist. The music and speeches were followed by a social hour with the pastor during which time, the ladies of Judge Blair's Bible class served roast beef, gravy, mashed potatoes, baked corn, creamed slaw, olives, hot biscuits, jelly, homemade cake, ice cream and coffee.

A leather Bible was presented to Dave Rupert, former president of the class, Mr. Watson making a neat speech.

Stove Leg Fastener

In moving or lifting stoves, the legs often drop out, or become loose. This can be prevented by bending a strip of heavy tin over the top of the leg to fill the space between the top of the leg and the stove, and fastening the opposite end to some projection on the body of the stove.—World's Ad. vance.

THE MERRY SIDE OF LIFE

HOULD opposites marry? I asked Tris today. "How do I know?" she rejoined, while the proprietor of the popular food emporium hovered anxiously in the vicinity of a new customer who was trying to convey one of the restaurant's sugar bowls to his coat pocket. "It's all I can do these days to hold down my job without trying to answer foolish questions what can't be answered. As I was telling the boss this morning, a nice queen, one who likes music and poetry and painting, should never think of marrying a busy gink what would drive a spike in the new piano to bang his coat on, and a doll what thinks the greatest thing in the world is a small steak with French fried potatoes ought to pass up a long drink of water what tells her his poem about her bee-roo-tee-ohs will bring home a ton of golden ducats.

"Don't laugh. A fellow what takes swell queens out to Broadway meals just to make every one sit up and take notice will never be happy married to a girl what sits around the house in kimono scenery. There are lots of ways for picking out a nice doll for a wife. The first thing to do is to size up the girl, but because she can't look you straight in the face don't think she's tricky. Maybe there's something the matter with your face. After you've been introduced to her and your heart goes pitty pat, that's a sign you're thinking of buying a piece of ice for her third finger.

"If she don't object to changing her name for yours call on her pa. If he is a Jess Willard and has a jaw like a cash register and sits around on the front porch in his shirt sleeves every Sunday afternoon just waiting for some of the neighbors to say something, I guess you'd better telephone. If the girl hasn't got a father ask her, just like that, if you may have the pleasure of annoying her parlor some evening. If she says she's sorry, but she's forgotten the number of her house, don't start looking for it. That's a sign you're rained, so pick up your papers and trot along.

"Don't wait around for an explanation. Take her word for it. As the Boss says, 'the only way to make an impression on some heads is to use a club.' If the next queen you happen to meet let's you rat at her house don't ask her right off the reel if you can get up a regular appetite and come to dinner, too. The diners will come later—and you'll pay for them. When the grand night arrives disguise yourself in a clean shave and harness up like a regular fellow.

"When you get near her house, whistle so as to let all the neighbors know you brought your nerve along. Don't walk up and down in front of the house wondering whether to go in or not. Walk right up the front steps and shake hands with the doorman, but don't pull it out. And don't mind if no one answers for twenty minutes. The girl is inside getting the final instructions from her Ma before opening the door. When she says, 'Won't you come in?' just follow directions and glide in. And remember this: it ain't good form nowadays to keep your hat on your head in a queen's parlor."

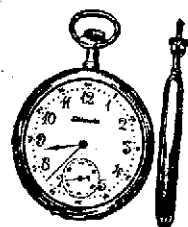

"Your advice is both novel and amusing," I remarked. "But how about the ticklish part—the proposal. Can't you tip me off on that, too?"

"There is a time and place for everything," Tris replied, giving me a whimsical glance from her wonderful eyes. "I'm not doing anything to-night. Why don't you drop around to the house?"

FINE SCHOOL EXHIBITS READY FOR KARNIVAL

THE BROTHERHOOD CLASS

One of the finest school exhibits ever seen in this city was that of the Wheelersburg schools, placed in position in the rural school exhibit in the Second street school building Saturday morning. Every department of school work is shown from the kindergarten school to the high school. Manual training work, artistic drawing, map drawing, examination papers, and original compositions compose the greater part of the exhibit. The paper designs by the smaller children is worthy of especial commendation.

The Sciotoville exhibit, another fine exhibit, was also placed in position Saturday afternoon while the exhibit from Lucasville will be in Monday. They will be a part of the rural exhibit, which will occupy both floors of the west side of the building. Indications now are that the rural schools exhibit may suffer from lack of room, as it has far exceeded in size the most sanguine hopes of the Korn Carnival committee.

Preliminary preparations were made Saturday for the installation of the Portsmouth public schools exhibit, which will occupy both floors of the east side of the building. It will be the largest exhibit ever shown by the Portsmouth public schools.

His Practical Mind.

A certain famous British cathedral, which shall be nameless, was visited by two farmers. A clergyman on the same errand waited by them, curious to hear their opinion of it. At length, after looking long and earnestly at its interior space and height, one said to the other: "Man, John, what a fine lot of hay ye could put in here!"

Rings of Saturn.

Recent spectroscopic analysis of Saturn's rings indicates that they are composed of solid matter, probably dust, that is, nebular matter which has passed through its liquid to solid form, and is now furnishing that planet with a dustlike material similar to that of the earth during the embryonic period.

The attendance last Sunday morning was good, but might have been better. How much of a vacation do some of you fellows want, anyhow? Here we have been welcoming new members almost every Sunday, and some of the brethren who used to be on deck every Sunday morning, have not yet joined the ship since she started her fall voyage.

However, "It's never too late to mend," and we confidently expect that the good ship Brotherhood will soon be sailing upon the sea of knowledge with a full crew and an even keel.

The Brotherhood Class is open to all men and meets every Sunday morning in the office of the pastor of All Saints' church, at the corner of Fourth and Court streets. The subject of the lesson this week is "True Wisdom." Scripture to be read in preparation is 1 Kings, chapters 1-4, and Proverbs, chapter 13. Come and bring your friend with you."

Valentine Rice

Valentine Rice, prominent Chillicothe business man, died early Friday, aged 69. He had been ill with a complication of diseases and three weeks ago consulted a specialist who told him that he had but a few days to live and to go home and close up his affairs as death might come at any time.

Mr. Rice was a veteran of the civil war, was engaged in various enterprises in Chillicothe and for many years he had been engaged in the coal business in that city. He was a member of the Chillicothe school board for eight years.

Mr. Rice had been a member of the order of Red Men for 40 years and had served as Grand Sachem of the state. He was well known to local members of the order.

Mr. Rice was vice president of the Webster-Brick company, of South Webster, was president of the Hocking Valley Fire Clay company, of Nelsonville, secretary and treasurer of the Mohawk Coal company, of Wellston, and president of the Chillicothe Creamery company of Chillicothe.

He is survived by his wife, who was Mary Elizabeth Kessler and seven children, one daughter, Mrs. Charles Metzger, of Chillicothe, and six sons, Jay V., of Portsmouth, Clark C., of Chicago, Roland H., Edgar D., Ross P., and Pearl E., of Chillicothe.

Funeral Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Oct. 2.—Speculative interest in today's market centered around a few specialties, mainly those of the war contract varied. Westinghouse, which came forward with a bound in yesterday's late operations claimed the bulk of attention, trading in that issue during the first hour amounting to one third of the whole at its maximum of 139 3/4, the stock showed a gain of 6 1/2 points. Steel moved uncertainly, failing to equal yesterday's quotation, but sensational gains were recorded by General Motors, American Car and some of the more obscure industrials. Bethlehem steel rose 1 to the new high price of 37 1/2. Bonds were firm. The closing was strong.

Heavy trading in war shares was resumed today. Westinghouse again loomed into prominence. That stock opened with 6,000 shares at 133 1/4 to 134 against yesterday's final price of 132 1/4, later advancing to 135 1/4. General Motors, which recently disbursed a fifty percent dividend, rose 10 to 350 and a miscellaneous group of specialties showed gains of 1 to 3 points. United States Steel made further fractional improvement at the outset but reacted. Similar tendencies were manifested by other industrials. Railways were again virtually eliminated from speculative consideration.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Predictions of unsettled weather tended today to lift the price of wheat. Besides cable dispatches told of the immediate need of enlarged supplies. On the other hand, ocean freight rates were reported as the highest ever known. Opening prices which ranged from 1/4% off to 1/4% advance with December at 94 1/4 to 95 1/4 and May at 97 to 97 1/4, were followed by a moderate upturn above last night's level all around.

Corn sagged owing to warmer temperatures. The market soon rallied, however, with wheat. After opening 1/4 down to a shade up prices underwent a slight general decline and then recovered to about yesterday's closing figures.

Oats swayed with corn the change in quotations, though, were narrow.

Higher prices on hogs strengthened provisions. As a rule, commission houses were on the buying side.

Further bullishness developed later as a result of an announcement of a big falling off in the French crop as compared with last year's total. The close was strong 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 net higher with December at 96 1/4 to 97 1/4, and May at 98.

No important fluctuation took place in the late trading. Prices closed steady at 1/4 to 1/2 net decline.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 80.

Otway, O., Dear Dolly—I have some cabbage and potatoes I would like to take to the Korn Karnival. Please tell me what time I would have to take them, and what is the premium on them?

M. M. F.
Bring your cabbage and potatoes to the Gallin street Esplanade next Wednesday, October 6th, the first day of the Kornival and place them on exhibition. The judges will decide on the last day of the Kornival whether or not you are entitled to a premium.

Dear Miss Wise—Will you please suggest a few ways of amusing children. No doubt there will be a great many left at the Day Nursery on Second street during the Korn Karnival, and we would like to know how to keep them in a good humor.

NURSELY BOOSTERS.
How many mothers know that children can be entertained by making 'animals' with vegetables (two or more), a handful of toothpicks, half a dozen cloves and a few all-spice to use for eyes, a carrot, a radish, and an onion, together with a few currants or raisins, some dried fruits, and other things that are available? Let the child decide what kind of animal he wishes to make. You might suggest the toothpicks be used for legs, wings and tail, and the vegetable be the body. A turtleneck may be made by using the cloves for legs and a raisin for the body. A small piece of white radish with a long row of broken toothpicks sticking on both sides, looks like a thousand-legged bug. If this game is used at parties, prizes should be given to the youngster who makes the best looking animal, while the lot making the poorest might be given a riddle to pay him for the effort made. Let the children guess the names of the animals, and a third gift be given to the one who guesses the most in the exhibit.

Dear Dolly—Can you suggest a way in which I can teach my little boy to remove his hat when he enters the house and when speaking to his sisters and to me?

A MOTHER.

Tell your little son that courtesy comes natural to the thoroughbred, and that you do not wish to be ashamed of him when he grows older. Tell him, too, that you know he is really courteous at heart, but that he sometimes forgets, and that to remind him when he forgets, you and his sisters will refuse to answer him when he addresses you or them with his head covered.

Dear Dolly—A girl I know called me down for putting my arm about the back of the seat while riding with her in a train. I did not have my arm resting upon her, but simply above her shoulders along the seat itself. Do you think that she was justified in asking me to remove it? PEEVED BILL.

Without the slightest question the young woman was justified in "calling you down." There are ways and ways of administering a rebuke, and it may have been that the girl was not tactful when telling you about your breach of etiquette, but, nevertheless, you really were wrong. She will respect and admire you all the more if you write her a little note or apology, telling her that you have come to the conclusion that you were in the wrong. For a man to stretch his arm along the back of a seat where a woman is sitting is a glaring evidence of (I am afraid I shall have to be very plain to impress the advice upon you) ill-breeding.

Smith Webster, O.—Dear Miss Wise: Will you please tell me what will take mellow out of white goods.

THANK YOU.
Put one ounce of chloride of lime in a bowl, pour over it one pint of boiling water. Strain through a flannel cloth. Add three pints of cold water. Wash stains in this, then rinse thoroughly.

Dear Miss Wise—I am a young girl 17 years of age and my parents live on a farm, but I don't like to live on a farm. What is your advice to me, whether to get married or get me a place and work away from home. I have been keeping company with a fellow a year, but he never does come to see me, but when I go any place he brings me home, and he wants me to make dates with him. What is your advice, Dolly? I love him dearly and I think he loves me, for he wants me to marry him. He says he never saw any other girl he ever cared for as much as me, and my parents don't object for me going with him, or getting married. He is a very good worker and everybody speaks well of him. He does not use tobacco in any form, nor strong drink, although he used to. I told him he would either have to give them or me up, and he promised me he would give them up to stay on the farm. You are too young to come to the city to work. About getting married, that is a question you will have to decide for yourself. Your mother ought to know whether or not you should marry the young man.

TEMPORARY BRIDGE AT MERCY OF THE OHIO

River's October "Freshet" May Reach 30 Feet

(BULLETIN)
The Ohio river was 36.8 ft. and still rising about 3 inches per hour Saturday at 3 p. m. The Scioto temporary bridge was largely under water and a portion of the north side bulged up and drift was working its way underneath. A strong cable was holding it firm but the safety of the bridge is in danger. Low bottom corn has been caught and owners were busy moving what they could of their crops there.

W. C. Deveraux, of Cincinnati, the U. S. government forecaster for this district, in his Saturday morning's report stated that the Ohio river would continue rising here for the next 36 hours at a decreasing rate.

The local stage at 10 o'clock was 35 1/2 ft. and rising at the rate of 3 inches per hour. Captain Harry Donnelly, local river observer, does not expect the Ohio to go any higher than 30 or 31 ft. This will save the corn lands on higher ground in the Scioto bottoms and also the Ohio bottoms, it taking 35 to 40 ft. to inundate them.

Although a solid mass of heavy drift that reached clear to the bottom of the river was lodged against its side and water was running across the floor in spots the temporary bridge across the Scioto was still holding Saturday morning.

The bridge floor had raised in a few places and it was generally believed that the bridge is sure to go out again. Henry Ruel was still hopeful that the Ohio river would continue rising sufficient to permit the floating of the drift across the floor of the bridge. He purposely had his men to remove the guard rails of the bridge so that this might be done and his men worked all night holding back the drift and assembling all at one end.

The bridge is closed to travel although a few foot passengers occasionally venture across. The Scioto had slackened up some by 8:30 Saturday morning. The Ohio's big rise checked the other stream and is all that held the temporary bridge in place. The Ohio jumped from 11 ft. Friday morning at 7 o'clock to 24.9 ft. at that hour, Saturday morning. Much light drift poured out by the small side streams was running.

On top of the big rainfall up the Big Sandy and Kanawha valleys and along the entire south side of the Ohio river was also the big volume of pool water released by the throwing of the wickets of Ohio river government dams, Nos. 28 and 28 and all of the locks and dams along the Kanawha river.

The Scioto still lacked a foot or more Saturday morning of reaching the low ground. It requires a 26 ft. stage to reach the corn land there while a 35 ft. stage puts water over the entire Scioto bottom lands. John Flannigan had a force of men and about ten teams and wagons busy early Saturday removing his corn. Others were also making preparations to remove their crops rather than take any chances.

The Ohio is rising from Parkersburg down where the stage Saturday morning was 15.2 ft. A rise of 7.3 ft. Rainfall .22 Charleston reported 14 ft. and rising, a rise of 6.2 ft. Rainfall .10. At Pt. Pleasant it was 19.5 ft. and rising, a rise of 8.7 ft. Rainfall .10. The stage at Huntington was 31 ft. and rising, a rise of 9 ft. Rainfall .06. A stage of 30 ft. is expected there according to the Herald-Dispatch of that city. Catlettsburg reported 23.5 ft. and rising, a rise of 19.2 ft. Rainfall .08. The Ohio stage at Pittsburgh was 6.3 ft. and a slow rise has just begun there.

An Associated Press dispatch to The Times says there is no rise in the Scioto river at Columbus or north of that city and that there had been only about one-half inch of rain. The stage at Columbus Saturday morning was 3 ft., a rise of one-tenth of a foot since Friday.

Leeds, $300,000; the Duchess of Roxburghe, $170,000; Lady Granard, $100,000; the Duchess of Marlborough, $50,000; Mrs. John Astor, $30,000.

KEENEST RIVALRY IS TO MARK BOOSTER PARADE

Keen rivalry between the steel plant and the N. & W. terminals will feature the Boosters' Parade next Wednesday evening. Hundreds of employees from each place will try to outshine the employees of the other in numbers and enthusiasm.

C. I. Choyner, of the Terminals, and Lester Howard, of the steel plant, were present at the meeting of the Boosters' Parade committee Friday evening and reported that the respective industries would make a splendid showing.

Every Choyner said that practically every department of the terminals would be represented in the parade, but that many of them would march with the unions to which they belong in the Central Labor Council division. The remainder will march in Division No. 3 in the same section with the steel plant and B. & O. S.-W. employees.

Employees of the steel plant have been urged to participate in the parade, and from the interest manifested as the big event approaches, it is almost certain that a large delegation of steel men will be in the parade.

The B. & O. S.-W. will also be out in full force, making the third division of the parade one of the largest and most representative sections in the entire procession.

Twenty automobiles have already been engaged for the N. & W. employees, who will carry their own red fire, furnished by the railroad company.

Printed programs, showing the formation of the different divisions were distributed among the marshals and aides Friday evening by the grand marshal, Albert F. Marting. They will be used to facilitate the formation of the parade that evening.

Marshals and parades of the other divisions were present and reported that their divisions would be well in hand, and that they would be formed and ready to move at the appointed time.

The Korn Karnival committee has called off the bride dedication exercises and a new line of march for the parade, which will bring it back through the uptown business district before it disbands, was decided upon last evening.

The new line of march is: Form at Gallia and Offshore, west on Gallia to Chillicothe, north on Chillicothe to Eighth, west on Eighth to Washington, south on Washington to Fifth, east on Fifth to Chillicothe, south on Chillicothe to Second, west on Second to Market, north on Market to Fifth, east on Fifth to Court, north on Court to Ninth, east on Ninth to Offshore, where the parade will disband.

Gallia street playhouse in the way of a miniature musical comedy company, the "Don Tons" by name and they come with fine ensembles from every house they have played on the circuit.

Their opening bill will be a unique idea called "The Oriental Auction" which is a tabloid version of a well known and popular comic opera. The scene is laid in India and is mounted with special scenery with a whole lot of haunting oriental melodies. Beautiful costumes will add much to the comedy.

Some twelve people compose the company and is said to have real comedians, real singers and real dancers. So this in conjunction with a two reel Lubin feature "When the Light Came In," and a Vitaphone comedy "Welcome to Bohemia," makes a show that will hit the patrons right.

The Movies

Nell Craig in "The Whirlpool" Columbia Tonight

"The Whirlpool" is a strong, thrilling three part dramatic photoplay with a great moral, and filled with emotional climaxes and intense situations.

Nell Craig, as the neglected wife, who thinks she is engaging in a harmless friendship, only to wake up to the terrible consequences of her actions, carries out her part with exceptional skill, while Warda Howard, in the more emotional part of the wronged woman, lends an intensity to the drama that holds spectators breathless.

"The Broken Rail" is another of those thrilling railroad pictures from "The Hazards of Helen" series featuring Helen Holmes in many feats of wonderful daring.

These two pictures consisting of four reels, makes an exceptionally good program at the Columbia this evening.

Manager Tynes announces a good program for each day of next week and invites his patrons to make the Columbia their headquarters during the Korn Karnival. Arrange to meet your friends there and when tired out with "sight seeing" on the streets, just drop in the Columbia and rest.

Temple Theatre

Tonight is an American production entitled "Drawing the Line". It's a touching tale of love and misfortune. The cast includes Vivian Rich, Walter Spencer, Jack Richardson and Lillian Buckham. The second two part feature is a Keystone comedy entitled "Only A Messenger Boy", featuring Ford Sterling.

"For Love and Money", the fourteenth chapter of "The Diamond from the Sky" will be shown at the Temple theatre Monday. There is a wild ride of a stage coach down the winding, tortuous mountain roads, which is thrice multiplied when this coach careens, then goes tumbling down the mountain side.

The accident, staged with breath-taking realism, is logically placed for there is given a strong dramatic reason for the happening. The plotters are none other than Blair Stanley and Inke Lovell, played respectively by William Russell and George Periolat.

At The Exhibit

Thos. H. Inco feature, "On the Night Stage," is the title of the big four reel attraction at the Exhibit tonight. William S. Hart, Robert Edison and Eben Mitchell, three strong emotional and dramatic actors, are taking the leading part in this picture. Don't miss it, as you are sure to see a treat.

Monday's attraction will offer Edward Earle and Glady Hullett in a big three-act feature, "The Working of a Miracle."

DR. CHASE'S Blood and Nerve Tablets

Big Fire Play At The Aranza Theatre

"Out of the Flames," featuring Adele Lane, has a very appropriate title, as a fire set fire to Miss Adele Lane's dress during the production of this feature factory drama. Director Burton King at once sprang into the picture, lifted a rug from the floor of the set and threw it about, Miss Lane.

"Their Bewitching Elopement" is another picture that will amuse and delight you, completing the program for today. The musical selections of the past two days have made a great hit. Go out and hear them.

Two rousing good comedies have been arranged for tonight's special program at the Strand. First, "My Tomboy Girl," a Victor two reel travesty of boarding school life, features Harry Myers and Rosemary Theby.

"Her Wonderful Day", an Imp drama with Jack Hopkins and Francis Nelson tells of a little factory girl's "Wonderful Day" in the country.

Our program will wind up with Charlie Chaplin in "The Star Boarder."

At The Majestic

"The Tide of Fortune" is the title of a two reel feature that is being offered as one of the headliners at the Majestic tonight. It is a picture that all will enjoy. A Breath of Summer is another good two reel feature. Since offering a four reel program, giving the patrons some "high-class pictures," the Majestic theatre has become one of the most popular in the city. Every night's program is a good one and well worth seeing.

181 DIE IN STORM

Reported dead—100 along Mississippi river from Myrtle Grove to Buras; 20 New Platform; 25 La Mare; 14 Rigoles; 6 Le Evile; 5 Brauche; 25 Island de la Croix; 17 St. Sophie; 4 crew steamboat Mary Whitman near Harvey; 3 Kilma; 2 launch J. N. R.; 3 near Houma. Total 208.

Missing—90 crews fifteen fishing schooners missing in Bayou La More; 14 Rigoles; 6 Le Evile; 5 Brauche; 25 Island de la Croix; 17 St. Sophie; 4 crew steamboat Mary Whitman near Harvey; 3 Kilma; 2 launch J. N. R.; 3 near Houma. Total 208.

More than 150 schooners were observed ashore between Gulfport and New Orleans; many total wrecks. Others were intact, but as high as fifteen feet above high tide level. Others were for inland.

While undoubtedly there has been some duplication in tabulation of reports of bodies found, it was said there were indications that the dead would not be fewer than 250.

Property damage throughout the storm-swept territory has been enormous, and in many places the destruction complete. Relief parties returning today from the Delta section said that the rich plantations in that section had been wiped out, crops ruined, orange trees destroyed, buildings demolished and washed out to sea, and that the country for miles was under water four to 15 feet deep. The levees in many places have been destroyed, adding new menace to the inhabitants and rendering more difficult the work of re-habilitation. River pilots expressed the opinion that it would be impossible to construct the levees in many places.

Many people today still were reported marooned on the tops of undamaged levees, where they took refuge when the full fury of the storm broke.

While no official estimate has been obtainable of the storm damage in this state and along the Mississippi coast, persons familiar with the territory believe that it will approximate $12,000,000. This estimate is considered conservative.

Relief work is progressing rapidly, due in great part to the quick recovery made here and in larger cities from the effects of the hurricane. Vessels left yesterday from practically every point along the coast to visit isolated villages, fishing settlements and camps which were in the path of the hurricane.

cial scores and requested that the Baseball Writers' Association appoint additional scorers from among its members for Philadelphia and Boston.

All the rules that governed the play during the 1914 series will be in force again this season. The National Commission announced that the umpires would have the complete support and backing of that body in preserving order and enforcing the rules among the players. They are to be particularly cautioned against permitting any disorder or loud comment by players on the benches of the rival clubs. It was further decided that in case of a tie game or a postponement due to inclement weather the teams will remain in the city where such game was to have been played until that game is completed and dates of future games on the subject will be advanced to meet any such emergency arising.

These are the prices of the seats announced by the presidents of each league to the National Commission:

Be Generous in Praise.

There are occasions when speech is golden, rather than silence, and when an encouraging word would be of more value than the richest material gift. Some persons are far too much afraid of the effect of a little generous and well-timed praise. They would keep all their flowers in an icehouse. Letting a little sunshine upon them at times would not be amiss.—Dr. A. Thomson.

New Australian Gold Field.

The minister for mines of western Australia has received a report from the inspector of mines at Coolgardie notifying a new find of gold between Coolgardie and Kalgoorlie. The inspector states that the ore obtained at a shallow depth is phenomenally rich, but sufficient work has not yet been done to enable him to form a definite opinion as to the extent of the find.

Optimistic Thought.

Fortunes are not protected against resignation.

Wilson Kneels, Asks God's Aid As He Opens Cabinet Meeting

Indianapolis, Oct. 2.—How President Wilson went down on his knees and led his cabinet in prayer at a recent meeting was told here yesterday by Bishop William F. Anderson, of Cincinnati, at a session of the Indiana Methodist Episcopal Conference. A United States senator told the bishop of the incident he said. The senator had heard it from one of the cabinet members who prayed with the president.

"When the president arrived at the cabinet meeting," said Bishop Anderson, "his face wore a solemn look. It was evident that serious affairs of the nation were on his mind. He said to the cabinet members, 'I don't know whether you men believe in prayer or not. I do. Let us pray and ask the help of God.'

"And right there the president of the United States fell upon his knees and the cabinet did the same and the president offered a prayer to God. While the war rages in Europe we in this country should thank God that in this crisis of the world we have a chief executive who is a servant of God and who stands with his hand in the hand of God. Every minister in the land should, every time he offers a prayer, take Woodrow Wilson by the hand and lead him into the presence of God, and ask that he be given strength to continue to be the great apostle of peace among men."

There were cries of "Amen" among the ministers. Later a telegram expressing the confidence of the delegates in him was sent the president.

WILL CLOSE LISTS OF LOAN NEXT WEEK

New York, Oct. 2.—Underwriters of the $500,000,000 Anglo-French bond issue soon to be offered the public were of the opinion today that the entire amount would be subscribed to within a few days. The lists would be closed in all probability early next week, probably Monday.

Financial institutions which comprise the underwriting syndicate in New York were cheered by the support given them from Jewish clients, a source from which they had not expected subscriptions to such an extent as have been realized during the three days that have elapsed since the details of the underwriting were published.

The definite announcement by a member of the Anglo-French commission that Russia would not be a participant in the funds derived is believed to have ended, to a large extent into the decision of Jews to subscribe.

Figures as to the total subscribed placed the sum at $355,000,000 Thursday night, the remaining $145,000,000, it was said, was she committed suicide.

WOMAN CHOKED

Cleveland, Oct. 2.—Coroner Byrne today expressed his belief that Mrs. Martha Welsh, whose body was found near the Newburgh state hospital, Tuesday, was choked to death by an inmate of the insane asylum. ## What Is A Catholic?

This interesting question will be discussed by the Rector of All Saints' church at the Sunday evening service at 7 o'clock. It is not too much to say that not one man, woman, or child, out of a hundred can answer this question correctly. And yet the word Catholic is heard every day.

If you wish to hear a plain answer to a plain question, you ought by all means to hear this address, from 7 to 8 p. m., at the corner of Fourth and Court streets. The Rector will be glad to answer questions bearing on the subjects discussed at these evening services, if they are plainly written out and placed in the box provided for the purpose.

Rome (Via Paris) Oct. 2.—Bulgaria is mobilizing all men up to the age of 58 years, according to the Corriere della Sera Budapest correspondent. Bulgarian artillery, the correspondent asserts, is being massed along the frontier of Dobruja, apart of Rumania, bounded by the Black Sea and the Danube, which was taken from Bulgaria in 1878 and given to Rumania. This section has a cosmopolitan population.

Turkey Will Send Armenians To U. S.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Turkey has consented to the emigration of all Armenians who actually will become naturalized American citizens on their arrival in this country. Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople has arranged with the Turkish government for the free departure of all Armenians for whose intention to become naturalized Americans he can vouch.

An appeal will be made public by the board of commissioners for foreign missions, for money to make possible the transportation and change of allegiance of such Armenians. It is understood that Turkey will permit the Armenians to come to the United States.

U. S. Warships Play Game Of War

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 2.—Fourteen of the United States greatest fighting ships are today at anchor in Hampton Roads, coaling and provisioning, preparatory in participation in the greatest war game ever attempted by the navy. Among the ships are the Arkansas, New Hampshire, Louisiana, New Jersey, Rhode Island, New York, Texas, Utah, Florida, Michigan, South Carolina and Celtic. The battleship Wyoming and two colliers are up Chesapeake Bay engaged in experimental practice.

The Wyoming is trying her big guns off Tangiers Sound. The war game will begin at midnight October 3 and will continue fifteen days. The fleet now in the Roads is expected to sail Sunday or Monday. Each ship will sail under sealed orders, the same as in time of actual war.

The fleet will be divided into two parts. One will be known as the invaders and the others as the defenders. The invaders will attempt to elude the defenders so as to gain entrance to an American port. The ships will be strewn out along the coast, from Florida to the coast of Maine. The battleship Wyoming will be the flagship of the invading forces.

England Sends U. S. Long Export Note

Washington, Oct. 2.—Great Britain's answer to reports widely circulated in this country that she has been interfering with legitimate trade of the United States with neutral European nations for the benefit of her own exporters is given in a note handed to Ambassador Page at London by Sir Edward Gray, the foreign minister, and made public here last night by the state department.

Data and figures are quoted at length to prove that where British exports and re-exports have increased the growth of similar trade from the United States has been many times as large, while in many cases there have been vast increases of American exports compared with decreases in those from the United Kingdom.

The note, which is in response to the British ambassador's report of a reference at the state department to the unfavorable impression created here by reports of increases in British trade with northern European countries since the war began, suggests also that statements concerning Great Britain's policy have been inspired by German agents.

August 13 is the date of the document, which was transmitted by mail instead of by cable.

MASSACHUSETTS DEMS OPEN CONVENTION

Boston, Oct. 2.—Although there was every appearance of harmony among the Democratic leaders before the state convention of the party opened today it was thought that spirited discussions in the resolutions committee last night might forecast considerable debate on the floor. Advocates of a plan endorsing President Wilson for a second term were understood to have won their point in the committee. Disputed planks included woman suffrage, biennial elections and the short ballot.

Governor David I. Walsh, who was renominated for a third term at the primaries last month was prepared to make a formal address of acceptance. It was arranged that Mayor James M. Curran of this city should preside.

A disposition to favor overtures made by leaders of the Progressive party was apparent among a large proportion of the delegates to the Republican state convention which met here today. It was believed that the platform would embody at least a part of the planks upon the adoption of which Charles S. Bird and Joseph Walker, former Progressive nominees for governor, conditioned their tentative offer of support of Samuel W. McCall, Republican primary nominee for chief executive. Grafton D. Cushing, who was defeated by Mr. McCall in the primaries, had been selected as permanent chairman.

FLASHES FROM THE REAL CENTERS OF SPORT

Gifted With Natural Ability Austin McHenry Destined To Climb Baseball's Ladder Of Fame

NATURAL ability will always assert itself no matter how great a handicap is imposed upon it.

This was convincingly demonstrated in the case of Austin McHenry, brilliant left fielder of the Portsmouth team the past season.

Gifted with native ability, but inexperienced in the art of playing ball successfully, it looked for a while that McHenry would be turned back by the local management last spring.

McHenry flashed now and then, but the general impression prevailed that the sunny disappointment led from the classic hills of old Adams county needed another year or two on the town lot behind the village blacksmith shop.

Apparently he was not on speaking terms with the finer points of the national game. But he was eager, earnest, enthusiastic and energetic and was determined to succeed. There was not a fiber of indifference that sends so many players back to the sticks in his compact frame. He was out there hustling all the time. McHenry kept trying. Now and then he would travel afar and haul in a lofty lift with the ease and grace of a Delephanty. The fans began giving him the once over and the club owners slowly began to realize that they had a jewel in the rough.

Manager Spencer had confidence in McHenry. This confidence soon amounted to genuine hope. After being shifted to the outfield from second base, his native position, McHenry began to shine with much brilliancy. He caught fly balls with the surety of a Ty Cobb, had an arm of steel, and was gifted with the intuitive faculty of playing for the butters.

He gradually developed into one of the most valuable players on the team. Why? Because McHenry had confidence in himself and was fired with ambition. Finally the sunshine began to break through and he grasped his opportunity.

Steadily he developed in all departments of the game. He proved to be a veritable demon at the bat, hitting all kinds of pitching, was fast on the bases and displayed intelligence every time the situation demanded the exhibition of gray matter. McHenry became popular. To many he was the favorite of Spencer's well balanced, high powered scoring machine.

When the blistering hot days of July rolled around it was conceded all around the Ohio State league that McHenry had won his spurs and Manager Spencer's judgment in retaining him was handsomely vindicated. McHenry had arrived, basehally speaking. Whether he is drafted or not many well posted fans believe and believe conscientiously that the Adams county lad is destined to shine in baseball's most alluring sky, the sky of the big show, that of the major leagues.

A cleanly built athlete with but one desire uppermost in his mind, to make good, Austin McHenry is climbing the baseball ladder of fame. And as he goes up rung by rung he will have a host of well wishers here boosting him.

Tom Clarke Is Suspended

Manager Herzog of the Cincinnati Baseball club announced today the suspension for the balance of the season of Tom Clarke, catcher, for breaking training rules.

Ohio State League Champions

Top row, reading left to right: Outfielder McHenry, Catcher Johnson, Pitchers Jacobus, Test and Ferguson and Outfielder Hubert, middle row, reading left to right: Pitcher Hancock, Outfielder Dilts, Manager Spencer, Outfielder Sherman and Third Baseman Dillhoefer; bottom row, reading left to right: Shortstop Howdy Caton and Second Baseman Bush.

This is the team that stepped out and won the first pennant in the Ohio State league for Portsmouth and defeated Maysville in the post-season series, by winning four games out of six. Supporters of the game firmly believe that the above team as it lined up was one of the best that ever represented the River City on the diamond. Well balanced in all departments it was a splendid piece of baseball machinery and much credit of bringing Ohio State league championship to Portsmouth is due to Manager Chas. Spencer, who proved himself an able and resourceful leader.

A FEW MINUTES WITH SPORTING EDITOR

"Irish Conwell, who recently returned from the Texas league, is just drifting along these days. He expects to make a landing shortly."

Charley Riehl, the famous slugger, is still eluding the ball for Columbus semi-pro team. The other day he almost hit one over the Capitol building.

Connie Mack's ailment has been diagnosed. He is suffering from "tail end fever". It is often produced by staying at the bottom too long.

Great old world. Thirty prize fights are held off every night in New York. Some people just have to be walloped, that's all.

Over in the New England league this year they had a player named Nade. There was something on his playing just the same. The lad has been drafted. Isn't it just awful to draft a Nade person!

So Manager Herzog is willing to exchange wallops with Tom Clark. Well match 'em. The Reds have failed to produce any players this year, who knows but this little scrap will produce an ultimate title holder. One can never tell how far an engine can toss you.

Can you imagine a man worth $250,000 worrying himself thin over the Pirates' chances? Neither can Fred Clarke.

The Federal league has engaged a business manager for its New York team. Pretty soft jobs, that, with no ball grounds and no team to look after.

No need of a "Marquard day" in Brooklyn, for it is evident Reuben has had his day.

The cannons of the winter league will soon be roaring. Then the phenoms will be made in a day and all games will be won.

Oh yes, base ball is fixed. What would the Reds have given to have won all their games from Chicago and finish in the first division? Why a couple of Garry Herrmann's city blocks of course.

Hunter Bitten By Bug, Is Laid Up

One day last week Fred Hunter, first baseman of the Ft. Worth, Texas league team went fishing. While wading around in the water a bug bit him on the left toe. He scratched the bite and is now laid up with a case of blood poisoning at his home in Columbus. He may have to have his foot lanced.

CLAIM PHILLIES WILL NOT WIN BIG SERIES

Over East, where the so-called wise fans have their meat tickets punched they are betting even money that the Phils will not win more than two games in the world's saw-bump of wisdom prophecies. In other words these ginks with bumps of wisdom protruding from their beanlets have it all figured out that the Boston will win four of the first six games and thereby clinch the series. Certainly sweet of these fans to dope it all out for us, but we wonder if they are correct. And after scanning the dope sheet rather intently and analytically we are rather of the opinion that Eastern fans may be right this time.

BUY THAT SEASON BOOK

Do not fail to buy your season ticket for the Portsmouth High School football games. There will be five big games at the park, for which the season ticket can be used. Five games, and probably more, for $1, the best bargain of the season.

P. H. S. OPENED FOOTBALL SEASON AT GALLIPOLIS TODAY

Marting, center.
Coleman, right guard.
Duwell, right tackle.
Brandle, right end.
Morris, quarter back.
Wilson, fullback.
Thomas, right half.

The above was the lineup Portsmouth high school's football eleven when it took the field at Gallipolis Saturday afternoon in their first game of the season.

It will be the first time football teams from P. H. S. and G. H. S. have met on the gridiron and the result of the game is awaited with great interest.

For the past three weeks Coach Leslie Hart has had a squad of twenty-five lads chasing the ball over the Sixteenth street practice field. Everyone is anxious for the whistle to blow. The team this season is classed as being better than last year's eleven. Captain Duwell is the right man to lead the lads and under his leadership the Red and Blue team is expected to have a brilliant season.

The team will average about 145 pounds.

Nutter at end took part in the majority of the games last year. Brandle at right end is a letter man and with Nutter will make a pair of end expected to carry forward passes for large gains. Captain Duwell and Quinn at tackles are lettered men and two of the biggest on the team. Lewis and Coleman, guards were substitutes last season and took part in several of the regular games. Marting at center played in the back field last season but will make a good man for center. Dee York, a lettered man who was to have been the regular quarter back will be greatly missed. Vance Morris, the midget of the team, has taken York's place as quarter. Morris was second team man last year. Wilson who broke into several regular games last season will be the regular fullback and his weight and speed are counted on for large gains through the line. Shoemaker and Thomas, as half backs are small but mighty. Both were substitutes last season.

Tom Williams, Perkinson, Ball, Anderson, Clayton, Swavel, Edwards and Trone are the extra men from which four will be picked as substitutes for Saturday's trip.

Nick Likes Lajoie

"They can talk about all the hitters they want to, but I think Lajoie of the Athletics is just about the best hitter in the game today," said Nick Carter when drawn into a fanning bee last night.

"At least he has been able to hit everything I put over the plate to him. Lajoie sure can wallop—the old pill."

HAS IRONCLAD CONTRACT

Rube Marquard the eccentric south-paw, in his last few starts, has shown nothing that would merit keeping him on the Brooklyn payroll. He has been battered from the box with frequency.

However, Marquard's contract, one of those supposedly iron-clad affairs, holds good until the end of the 1916 season, so that even if he is chased off into the bushes he will draw big league salary until October of next year.

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking

(The Beauty Secret)

"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful," says a well-known physician, "is to keep the liver and bowels normally active. Without these organs, the system produces poisons, which lodge in the system, polluting the blood and making the complexion sallow, nervous, mentally sluggish, dull-eyed, wrinkled and slow."

"That is to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing evil effects, has been the problem. For centuries, there is a prescription of unobtainable herbs, which may now be had in a convenient form, and which is called 'Santonin Tablets'."

"These tablets are not a habit-forming constituent in 'santonin' tablets—that is the name—and they are not followed by weakness or dizziness. On the contrary, these harmless vegetable tablets tend to impart tone and vitality to the system, and thus make the complexion clear, bright and healthy. Santonin tablets, which may be procured from any drug store, will do more for the complexion than any constipated, liver-troubled person."

Chief Cause of Pimples, Blotches, Sallow Skin

(Cause of Health)

Unhealthy eruptions, pimples, boils, blotches, yellow or muddy skin, usually are due to a sluggish liver, a constipated bowels—and a polluted blood stream as a consequence. How foolish in such cases to resort to outward applications, which can never have natural, permanent results. If more people only knew it, there is a very simple remedy, to be found in any drug store, which is as effective as it is harmless and quick. It is called 'Santonin Tablets'—long recognized by the medical profession, which has been put in tablet form, and at such small cost, so that no one is deprived of its wonderful benefits."

"Santonin tablets"—that's the name—'are a gentle vegetable and there is no habit-forming ingredient. You need only get about a dime's worth, and swallow one at bedtime to realize there's nothing else quite so good for the purpose. The action in the morning is so easy, so soothing, and instead of a weakening after-effect, you feel truly refreshed and invigorated. Santonin tablets are not only the finest remedy known for constipation and torpid liver, but offer the safest, most reliable treatment for complexion difficulties of the character mentioned."

Great Demand for New Constipation Remedy

They say that the advent of the 'santonin tablets' as a valuable substitute for the old-fashioned 'castor oil' has resulted in an extraordinary demand for this remarkable product. It seems to have caught the public imagination, with those afflicted with chronic constipation, who were quick to recognize its advantages over calomel and the usual laxatives."

"Santonin tablets, aside from their emollient and cathartic powers, largely due to a tendency to aid in bringing about natural functioning—instead of forcing the bowels—also act as a means of relieving the membrane lining of the organs involved. They exert a healing action instead of weakening it, and they work so easily and gently that they can be taken at any time, and without the slightest inconvenience. Their laxative effect is so gentle that they are not only a safe remedy for constipation, but also a safe remedy for the torpid liver, and their many other consequences, has finally been found—'Drugists Review'."

WIFE OBJECTS TO CHARLEY CHAPLIN SLAPS; HAS HER HUSBAND ARRESTED

Mrs. Nellie Philipps, a front street young woman, complained to the police Friday evening that her husband had slapped her with some of his Charley Chaplin slaps Friday evening and not in fun either.

Mrs. Philipps told Chief Allen that she had met a friend and had walked out street with him when suddenly she caught sight of her husband impersonating Charley Chaplin approaching, he having been employed to enact that role for a theatre. "Aw, that's not him," reassuringly remarked her friend, but she insisted it was and became very nervous. Drawing himself up to his full height and assuming a bold front, her escort bravely exclaimed: "Well, what of it, let him come on." Both felt relieved when Chaplin brushed past them without as much as looking in their direction but the few flew when Philipps reached home, according to the wife, he "slapping the Dickens out of her."

She filed an affidavit against him in the mayor's court, charging him with assault.

Philipps was arrested by Officer Roy Moore at Estep's, boarding house on Front street, Saturday noon. He was not locked up, pending efforts to have friends go to his security.

Pool Balls Used In Exciting Battle, One Man Arrested

An exciting battle with pool balls was staged at the Marshall saloon, corner of Thirtieth and Railroad streets, late Friday afternoon.

All balls from off two tables were thrown back and forth, and the wonder is that someone was not seriously injured.

Bill Glascoe was caught square on the right arm by one of the balls and painfully hurt. It was Glascoe who innocently precipitated the trouble, according to his own statements to the police.

Glascoe had made a remark, to which a strange railroad negro took exception. Glascoe assured him that he meant no harm, but the other persisted in referring to the remark and began making threats. This was out in the rear yard. Once he was inside the saloon he began picking up pool balls and throwing them at Glascoe, who was kept dodging them, until he finally managed to get hold of one sick.

Dick Ferguson, owner of the place, stepped in just as the bottle was at its height and tried to restore order. He claimed afterward that it required the combined efforts of three men from preventing Glascoe to get hold of a gun. The strange negro escaped on a passing X. W. freight train, amid a shower of rocks.

Ferguson hurried to police headquarters later and filed an affidavit against Glascoe, charging him with disorderly conduct. Both Ferguson and Glascoe failed to appear when court convened Saturday morning, but the latter showed up later and claimed that Ferguson told him that he did not have to report. He was told to report again Monday morning.

ASKS FOR SHARE

An echo of a recent sale of a farm in Harrison township to the C. & O. Northern Railroad company was heard in common pleas court Saturday in the trial of the suit of Zelma Dever against John Riggrish and Wiley Riggrish, her grandfather and uncle, respectively, for an accounting of the $5000 received for the farm.

The plaintiff claims that the firm in question was decided about ten years ago to her mother, John Riggrish's daughter, now deceased, and that she is entitled to a share of the proceeds. This claim is disputed by the defendants.

Attorneys in the case, which is being heard before a jury, are Millar and Micklethwait for the plaintiff, and Dever and Gilliland for the defendants.

WATER CAUSES $400 DAMAGE AT NEW BOSTON

Damage estimated at $400 was caused from the hard rains at New Boston Thursday night.

The water from Turkey Run empties into the stone sewer that runs through the G. M. Warder basement. Recently the village storm connected with the sewer.

The sewer, which is not complete, has an outlet at present into the lake, but the valve was not opened Thursday and the water was backed up, the result being that Druggist Ernest Coburn's, G. M. Warder's, Harless Bros' and Mrs. Phil Emmert's basements were flooded.

Stock stored in Coburn's basement was damaged to the extent of $250. Mr. Warder places his loss at $50 on canned fruit, gas fixtures and household goods. Harless Bros. had two new rugs and furniture ruined, the damage being close to $100.

Fred Bolander lost considerable cement stored in the rear of the Warder place.

Mrs. Emmert places her loss at $25. A gasoline engine used to pump water into the small reservoir on the hill was badly damaged.

A five gallon can of gasoline was spilled when the water rose in the basement and it ignited from a water tank heater. The gasoline burned on top of the water. An electric washing machine was destroyed.

Fire Prevention Day Saturday, October 9

The Governor of Ohio has by proclamation directed all citizens to clean up their premises on Fire Prevention Day, Saturday, October 9.

The figures furnished by last year's fire statistics say "CLEAN UP!" in capitals. Half a million dollars would not make good the fire loss in Ohio from neglected rubbish during the last year. True, only 199 fires were caused by sparks from burning up rubbish on the premises to get rid of it, and only 27 are reported as from rubish igniting. But more than half of the loss of $917,658 reported as from flying sparks was from sparks flying from the past fortnight. Considerable plastering also fell this time.

Every day that the TIMES is published, builders list their bargains on TIMES WANT AD page.

FORMER LOCAL RESIDENT IS ON A VISIT TO CITY

Mr. N. T. Peck, who was a resident of the Bear Creek neighborhood 30 years ago, is here from his present home, Napa, California on a visit, being a guest at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. George H. Watkins. Mr. Peck formerly owned the land now owned by Senator Lauman, selling out to him when he decided to go west. He is accompanied by Mr. M. J. Wittlinger, a newspaper man of Napa, and the two have made quite an extensive tour of the east prior to coming to Portsmouth. Among other places they visited in Washington, where Mr. Peck attended the reunion of the G. A. R. for a couple of days.

Mr. Peck and Mr. Wittlinger were shown about the city by Attorney Edgar G. Millar. They expect to be here for a few days. Mr. Peck was a friend of the late Hon. James W. Newman and entertained Mr. Newman at his home when he was visiting the coast a number of years ago.

An order has already been placed by Mr. Staebler for entire new fixtures for his store, and delivery is to be made not later than October 25.

Mr. Staebler is a courteous, enterprising gentleman, and an efficient workman, and with a large circle of friends already established in the city should prosper in his new venture.

Large delegations of Modern Woodmen of America from Chillicothe, Ironton, Greenup, Ashland and South Portsmouth are coming for the big fraternal parade next Thursday evening. It was announced at a meeting of Portsmouth Camp Friday evening. Portsmouth Camp will also have a booth during the Kora Carnival, and it was stated after the meeting the booth will be originally and artistically designed.

The new ritual of the order has been received and was put into use immediately. The members claim that it is much more impressive than the old ritual.

Two applications for membership were received, the prospective candidates being Luther W. Allis and Ernest P. Abbott.

Store Is Flooded

W. C. Bateman's harness store in the Massie Block, was again badly flooded by Thursday night's heavy rain. It was his second freshet in the past fortnight. Considerable plastering also fell this time.

Every day that the TIMES is published, builders list their bargains on TIMES WANT AD page.

Big Pay Rolls

Pittsburgh, Penn., Oct. 2.—Reports of five of the largest banks carrying the pay rolls of big corporations in the Pittsburgh district show that the October pay will approximate $32,000,000, exceeding that of any month for several years by at least 15 per cent. The largest preceding pay roll month of recent years was October, 1911, when the aggregate for the same banks was $26,000,000.

MRS. MAUD FOSTER SAYS SHE WAS NOT MISSING

Editor of Times: With your permission for space in your paper I would like to correct an error which has caused me considerable annoyance. I did not "wander" away from home but went because I wanted to go to visit a neighbor and if I did not tell everybody I see no reason why they should report me missing. No searching party was formed and "relatives" did not induce me to return home and so for any doubts as to my sanity I will leave that to those who know me. Hoping this will be printed at an early date, I remain,

BAILEY AWARDED A $2,000 VERDICT

A verdict in favor of the defendant was returned by a jury in common pleas court late Friday afternoon in the $2,000 damage case of George Bailey against the Portsmouth Street Railway and Light Company.

Bailey claimed to have been permanently injured in alighting from an open street car on Ninth street, between Gay and Chillicothe streets, in June, 1914, for which he held the company responsible.

Attorney Philip Jacobs represented the plaintiff and Milner, Miller and Searl the defendant.

DONATES COFFEE

Among the many donations for the Kora Carnival the Fourth Street M. E. church received a liberal donation of coffee to be used at their booth from F. W. Jacobs of the Jewel Tea company. The donation was made through Mrs. F. Kemmerer of 724 Third street.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one remedy for that chronic disease, Catarrh, which is the only Catarrh cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by rebuilding up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Answer to the suit of R. C.

Blackburn against Lloyd Foster, an action to recover an alleged balance on a suit of clothes sold to defendant, was filed in Common Pleas court Friday by Attorneys Blair and Kimble for the defendant. Foster claims that he is not liable because he was under age when the purchase was made, and further alleges that the clothes were not as represented.

The naptha in Fels-Naptha soap stays in the soap until it comes in contact with water. Then it gets to work on the dirt and grease—loosening and dissolving it, thus making hard rubbing unnecessary, and doing the work in half the time. While the clothes are drying the naptha disappears—evaporates.

Use Fels-Naptha for all soap-and-water work.

Local German's View Of European War

(Written by Louis F. Korth, former Editor of The Correspondent.)

Friday, October 1, 1915.
The dread of another winter campaign in the Argonne and the turn which the eastern situation has taken made it imperative for the Allies to undertake another big drive against the German lines in France and Flanders. It did not come as a surprise.

The Germans have had warning by a terrific bombardment of their lines which started on September 20, and continued for over a week, day and night. They knew that for every yard of breast work and trench twenty shells of the heaviest calibre had been brought to the front. But they did not know where the storm would break loose. The attack did. He concentrated his forces where he wanted them, razed the ground before him with shell and explosives and broke through trenches and wiring before his antagonist could bring up his supports, the British on the road from Lille to Lens, where the German communications in the canal country centre, the French between Souain and Perthes, east of Rheims, on the road to Verdun.

With an enormous sacrifice of men and material the Allies have driven two German divisions out of their first position but they have not broken their inner lines or achieved such success as would necessitate a retreat, which if it should come would only be to new lines already prepared. It's a long way to Cologne.

General Foch, the British commander, whose front a month ago reached only to the La Basse Canal, had extended it to Loos near Lens, from where he launched forth, while General Joffre attacked at Souain and Massiges, between Rheims and the Argonne, nearly 150 miles southwest of French, besides making feints and demonstrations along his lines to deceive the Germans.

The carnage was fearful and the losses on both sides appalling, especially in the Champagne, where the French gained over a mile of ground at Massiges, but failed to take the commanding heights—191, 150, 148—as well as the hill 183 on the right bank of the Aisne north of Vienne-le-Chateau, where the most blood has been spilt. The German crown prince made a counter attack on Monday and took 7,000 prisoners.

On Tuesday and Wednesday the fighting was heaviest between Souchez and Vinay, the old fighting ground north of Arras, where the French made some progress.

The tone of the British and French battle reports is very exuberant, General French in his response to the congratulations of the Lord Mayor of London takes up the old cry "On to Berlin!" again, but the confidence of the German commanders in their ability to hold out remains unshaken.

If onslaughts as powerful as those of Joffre and French do not succeed so as to drive a wedge into the enemy's front and roll up his flank, which is their object, the defender is given time for re-embarkment and massing of his reserves to return the blow, which the Germans have done. If the Allies follow up their first success it will only be by superior masses and sledgehammer work.

Berlin says: "In the Champagne Joffre had ten army corps in action and in 48 hours of continuous attack and reattack with a loss of at least 40,000 men he did not accomplish what the German crown prince has done in the Argonne with his 50,000. The British were checked at Ypres and Lille and some of the ground north of Loos has been recovered. The battle goes on." And is becoming less fierce.

"The British fleet participated in the fighting by a bombardment of Middlekerke and Seeburg on the Belgian coast. It had one battleship destroyed and two disabled." Operations against Ostende, a flanking movement, are in progress, London reports.

Not less than five aeroplanes were brought down by the Germans. The latest bulletin of the German war office says that the British have quit their attacks and new French attacks have failed. Only trench fighting continued.

In the east the German-Austrians are following up their successes. General Eichhorn, the victor of Wilna, who is driving the Russian center, the Wilna army, met with heavy resistance between Omsjona and Wileika, but broke it in a bloody seven days' battle where he made nearly 22,000 prisoners.

London states that Hindenburg has driven a big Russian force into the marshes of Wassulowo, probably a lake, and that other German groups have attained a success at Smorgon, breaking through the Russian outposts and capturing many prisoners. This evidently refers to Eichhorn's fighting between Smorgon and Wileika.

Petrograd admits the defeat and fears that Hindenburg is preparing another blow at the Russian right wing in his effort to block the retreat of the Russian army between Lida and Baranovich to Minsk. Critics say that his latest successes equal those at Tannenberg and on the Masurian lakes. He is bent upon finishing his campaign before winter, it seems.

Petrograd bulletins speak of new fighting at Dolgino, considerably east of Wileika, which shows that General Eichhorn is close upon the defeated and retreating Russians.

To the south of him Prince Leopold is advancing on both sides of the railway from Lida to Minsk, where the Czar's general staff is establishing a new line.

General Mackensen has been stopped north of Pinsk by a flanking movement of the Russians. He had to take his troops back behind the Jassidola and the Oginski Canal, where he has been battling against odds and high water in the marshes.

In the Volhynia fortress sector the situation which was somewhat gloomy a week or two ago has decidedly improved. The Russians had advanced to the Sty and Ikva again, in fact up to the walls of Lutsk, and Petrograd gave out that the little fortress had been retaken, but last Monday General von Linsingen met the Russians and threw them back over the Sty, keeping 4,000 of them as prisoners of war. He is very close to Rovno again, and if he succeeds in taking the fortress the last link of the Wilna-Rovno road will be in German possession.

In Southeastern Galicia and on the Roumanian frontier the war is at a standstill. But there is neither lull nor let up in the most northern part of the line. Hindenburg has advanced from Alexandrovsk, which he took by storm last week, to Smielin, where the roads from Luban and Riga verge, and is now close to Duenaburg.

A counter offensive of the Russians between Riga and Friedrichstadt, which opened with some success at Linuwaden last week has broken down.

"300,000 Austro-Germans have begun the advance on the Serbian frontier through the town of Orsova," says a despatch from Athens.

As Orsova, where the Danube breaks through the East Carpathians (Iron Gate) lies on both sides of the river, half in Hungary and half in Serbia, it is not quite clear how far the Austrians have got, probably they are massing troops on the river. A big German army has been moved through Hungary, to what points is not known. Bulgaria is moving troops to the Serbian frontier, where Serbian troops have been concentrated for some time.

Paris advises state that Bulgaria has concluded a military convention with the Central Powers the terms of which are unknown. Bulgaria's mobilization has been completed. The port of Varna on the Black Sea has been closed.

The Greek government announces that it has mobilized the army to prevent the Allies from sending troops through Greek territory to the assistance of Serbia and thereby endanger Greek neutrality. British and French troops for Serbia have been landed near Salonika, Greece's new harbor on the Aegean Sea.

The Greek government is placing a war loan of 30 millions.

Austro-Hungary has concentrated three army corps on the Roumanian frontier, although the Cabinet of Bucharest has given neutrality assurances in Vienna as well as in Berlin. Vienna papers say that the danger of Roumanian participation in the war on the side of the Allies has ceased since the new defeat of the Russians in Volhynia.

The big Italian battleship Benedetto Brin, 13,427 tons, next to the Emanuele the most powerful and the fastest of the navy, was blown up in the harbor of Brindisi. Of a complement of 750 men half perished. The ship was put into service in 1904. It costs nearly six million dollars and is the second of Italy's dreadnaughts which the war has robbed her of.

In one of the recent weekly reports on conditions in Germany the American Association of Commerce and Trade in Berlin meets the charges of the Allies press, that war prisoners in Germany are treated roughly and are underfed, with an emphatic denial and the declaration that the prisoners' camps everywhere are on just lines. This is verified in a long description of the administration of these camps, which closes as follows: "They stand before us in these hard times as a vivid monument of true culture, a culture which Germany's enemies claim solely for themselves, but which deeper than elsewhere roots in the German people."

To prevent a recurrence of submarine troubles with the United States different bureaus of the German admiralty have been re-constructed. It seems that instructions given them after the Lusitania incident had not been strictly carried out or were misinterpreted.

All the drinking places in Moscow have been closed by the prefect of police on account of the strike in the munition factories. The newspapers have been forbidden to publish any strike news and all but one have suspended publication. Five persons were killed in riots. Martial law has been proclaimed.

The Russian government has taxed all incomes of over 500 rubles ($500) with two percent.

The finance committee of the French chambers figures the cost of the war for the republic at $14,000,000 a day.

The German army has captured not less than 24 fortresses, nine in the west, fifteen in the east.

Of explosives for the Allies our export figures are ten million dollars a month. All materials used for the manufacture of it have advanced enormously. Benzol from 25 cents to $1.25; Carbolite acid from 7 cents to $1.50.

To the claim of Lord Balfour that London was an open town the German government has given convincing denial by publishing a chart of its fortifications.

During the bombardment of Stuttgart by a French flyer flotilla the United States consulate was hit.

The New York Journal, one of the Hearst papers, says 95 percent of the New York churches are against the Allies loan in the United States.

Turkey has no representative in Washington, but Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, in a letter to the National Defense Union of America (Boston) designates the stories about Turkish atrocities in Armenia as flat inventions.

The British steamer Natal Transport and a French coal freighter of 5,000 tons have been sunk by a German submarine south of the island of Crete in the Mediterranean.

A Paris dispatch says: "The army committee of the chamber of Deputies has recommended an increase of the soldiers' pay from one to five cents a day, the increase to date from July 1, 1915, which will burden the budget by another $25,000,000 a year. Vienna harbors 200,000 Galician refugees, which have been taken care of by the community and are gradually sent home on expense of the state."

Throughout Austria and Hungary the school children in cities and towns have cultivated hundred thousands of acres of public ground and planted vegetables of all kinds which are donated to the poor.

The German secretary of finance, Dr. Karl Helfferich, has officially stated that the subscriptions for the new German war loan, the third one, on the closing day amounted to $3,007,500,000 without those not yet reported. They surpass the last British loan which created a world-wide sensation, he said. And England spends 55 cents per head a day for war purposes. Germany only 25 cents. Germany can continue the war indefinitely, the secretary says. It does not go into debt.

The Vossische Zeitung, old Democratic Tante Voss, which the Cincinnati Enquirer quotes in his last Berlin fake of misery and despondency, says of the new loan: "It success, a world event in finance, furnishes uncontrovertible proof that all classes of the nation are a unit in this war, it is a home loan and the people's sacrifice. We didn't have to go begging for it. Even our finance experts are astounded at the surprising financial and economic strength of the country."

"The attempt of our enemies to isolate and starve out Germany has been a boomerang to them," the Tageblatt writes. "Everybody has economized more than ever before and has laid his savings upon the altar of the Fatherland. In fourteen months the people have given the government 25,000 million marks. The money stays in the country in endless circulation. We produce at home what we need and the profits go into our pockets and our savings to the governments. Germany does not need to go begging to outsiders for a half billion."

Secretary of Finance, Dr. Helfferich, says: "America certainly cannot count us with one of her needy friends."

There was a time when the United States needed money, needed it badly, but the British money lords gave theirs to the confederates. The country which bought our bonds was Germany, and it did not lose anything by it. The British have their confederate shipmaster yet.

In response to questions of Germany's military strength want to state that this year's recruits (1915) have gone to the front now, those of 1916 will be mustered in next month.

Cleveland, Oct. 2.—Police today were hunting for a party of five who drove a speeding auto full tilt into another car early today, injuring W. P. Neville, of West Park, Ohio, and A. E. Mead, of Sterling, Ohio, occupants of the latter machine, which was wrecked.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, sniffling, blowing; no more headache, dizziness or straining for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK, THICK, GLOSSY

Look years younger! Try Grandma's recipe of Sage and Sulphur and nobody will know.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Ely's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you have used your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

Home of Character No 268 - John Henry Newson, Architect, Cleveland.

The walls are hollow tile, faced with rough cut brick of the tapestry type. Overhangs and panels are stucco on metal lath. Exterior woodwork is stained with wood preserving compound, and windows are metal casements with glass set in metallic leading. Roof is slate, but tile would be equally attractive.

These are all fire-resisting materials, which both increase the life of the house as well as reduce the cost of maintenance and insurance.

The plan speaks for itself. A detailed description will be furnished on request.

Can be built as described for from $5000 to $6000. Price of plans and specifications $25.

MRS. EGBERT IS PURSUED BY HOODOO; HURT AGAIN

The strange fate that has pursued Mrs. Lottie Tracy Egbert, wife of George H. Egbert, the N. & W. round house foreman, in recent years, still seems to be hovering about her.

Mrs. Egbert who underwent two surgical operations for peritonitis in July ventured out again Saturday for the third time since her illness going on an errand down town. It was her longest walk yet undertaken. Just as she was passing the Dice alley on Second street a battered base ball from the direction of the Second street school lot struck her in the face, bruising her eye glasses and cutting her nose. Several men caught her as she was about to swoon and she was assisted into Dr. W.

E. Gault's office, later reviving sufficiently to return to her home at 1921 Timmonds avenue. She left Saturday afternoon for a visit to home folks in Hales Creek. A year ago the whole Egbert family was stricken with ptomaine poisoning while Mrs. Egbert's entire relationship at Hales Creek were caught by the small-pox epidemic that raged there.

EVERYTHING READY FOR THE ELKS' INDOOR FAIR

Final arrangements for the big Elks' Indoor Fair next week were made at the meeting of the general committee and the sub-committees in the new Elks' Home, in the Play House building Friday evening.

All of the booths have been constructed, and the work of decorating the booths and exterior of the building will be completed by Monday afternoon.

A big circus entrance with flaming posters will be built on the sidewalk in front of the entrance, calling attention to the big Fair.

Admittance to the Fair will be free to every man, woman and child that is in Portsmouth during the week. Plenty of fun and entertainment will be found on the inside, no two attractions being alike. The dance hall will probably be one of the most popular places in Portsmouth during Kar-nival week. Contractors have worked hard to get the building in shape for the Fair, and they have succeeded beyond the expectations of the Fair committee. Everything will be in readiness for the Fair upon its opening Monday evening.

When your property burns, the fire insurance company pays you. You see to that. WHEN YOUR FAMILY LOSES ITS GREATEST ASSET—YOU—WHO PAYS THEM? AND WHO SEES TO THEM?

Fire insurance, to protect your property, and no life insurance to protect your family, is selfishness. Does it take plain talk to show you your duty? Let's reason it out.

Lesson I.—Fourth Quarter, For Oct. 3, 1915.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, 1 Kings xvi, 11-20. Memory Verses, 17-19—Golden Text, Num. xxiii, 23—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Ahab and Naboth side by side on earth, the rich and the poor, meet together, but there is a hereafter, as described in Luke xvi, and the rich here are sometimes awfully poor, and worse than poor, when they leave this world. It is certainly a pitiful phase of sinful human nature when such as Ahab desire also a poor man's all and act like a spoiled child when they cannot get it. He was heavy and displeased when reproved by the Lord for compromising with Ben-hadad, and now he is the same because he cannot have Naboth's vineyard, and he went to bed, turned away his face and would not set (xx. 43; xxi. 1-4). Many a man in Naboth's place would have been afraid to displease such a one as Ahab, but Naboth feared the Lord and evidently remembered that the land was His and was not to pass from tribe to tribe (Lev. xxv. 23; Num. xxxvi. 7), and he would rather die than give Ahab any coat than displease the Lord. Such a hearted people for God are greatly needed—those who will never bow to any power, might, or force, but who will glorify God. The fear of man always bringeth a snare. We must live in the fear of the Lord always.
Jezabel, on learning what all her husband, urged him to remember that he was the king, that he should arise and eat and be merry and she would give him Naboth's vineyard (verses 6-7). The people who give what does not belong to them, no matter who suffers by it, are still to be found on earth—unscrupulous, proud, selfish, the earth is mine; what right have you in it? There are also plenty to do their bidding, no matter what it is, whether to oppress and ruin a man or his family, or business or even to take a man's life, as did these assassins of Jezabel (verses 8-14). Some one has said that if the servants of Christ were as ready to serve Him as the servants of this devil are to serve him many things would be different all around.

It seems to us strange that the Lord should permit the devil to afflict and kill His people, but He told His disciples that they would be put out of the synagogue and even killed for His sake and that they must not be afraid to be killed (John xvi. 1, 2; Matt. x. 28). In the very next chapter we see a faithful servant of the Lord, Michael, the son of Imnah, put in prison and fed on bread and water because he spoke the Lord's message and feared no man's frown and sought no man's favor (xiii. 8, 14, 27, 28). The time will come, after the church is taken away, when the saints then on earth, converts after the rapture, the redeemed of Rev. vii, the great tribulation saints, shall suffer terribly at the hands of the servants of the devil (Dan. vii. 21, 25; Rev. xiii. 5-8), but their victory is seen in Rev. xv, while the torment of those who prefer life and the favor of man is seen in Rev. xiv. 9-11.
Word was brought by the murderers to the murderers that Naboth was dead, stoned to death, like Stephen and Saul, long afterward, but they did not know the God of Naboth, who ever liveth and cares for His own, though He often allows that which looks like evil to come to them. It stands forever true that all things work together for good to them that love God (Rom. viii. 28). Ahab went to take possession of Naboth's vineyard, but an awful message came to him from the Lord by the mouth of Elijah concerning both himself and his wife. "Thus saith the Lord, In the place where dogs licked the blood of Naboth shall dogs lick thy blood, even thine," and "The dogs shall eat Jezabel by the wall of Jezreel" (verses 19, 23). See the fulfillment of both of these predictions in xxi. 28, and II Kings ix. 10, 20, 30-37. There is a reaping for all sowing both here and hereafter, for "whosoever a man sows that shall he also reap," and "they that have sown the wind shall reap the whirlwind" (Gal. vi. 7, 8; Hos. viii. 7).
Ahab called Elijah his enemy (verse 20), but it was Ahab who was the enemy of Elijah and of the Lord, for he had sold himself to the devil to work evil in the sight of the Lord, being stirred up to do so by his wicked wife, Jezabel (verses 20, 25). He said to Elijah, "Hast thou found me?" And Elijah said, "I have found thee" (verse 30). This reminds us of the words in Num. xxiii, 23, "Be sure your sin will find you out," and also of Matt. x. 26, "There is nothing covered that shall not be revealed, and hid that shall not be known." Oh, the revelations of day, when there may be many works of even Christians burned up because of self (I Cor. iii. 11-15). It looks as if Ahab might have been a different man but for his wicked wife. And oh, how gracious the Lord was to him! He knew him thoroughly, and yet when he saw some apparent repentance, humility and fasting he held off the evil during his days (verses 27-29). The alliance of Jehoshaphat (who was one of the eight good kings of Judah) with Ahab, as recorded in chapter xxii, is one of the strange combinations of the goodly and ungodly which prove so disastrous always. Why not determine to lay to heart II Cor. vi. 14-18, and live accordingly, for wholehearted separation unto the Lord is the only way.

Cordial Reception Tendered Rev. Chandler At Bigelow

The reception held at Bigelow church Friday evening to welcome the new pastor, Dr. Charles E. Chandler, was a great occasion.
A large number were present and everybody carried a pleasant smile and ready for a good time. Dr. Chandler soon discovered that there were live wires in this old church and they were ready to give him a warm greeting.
Several ministers of other churches were present and after an hour spent socially to give the people an opportunity to get acquainted with the new minister.

The program was changed and everybody invited to the basement of the church where light refreshments were served and an hour spent socially. Every move of the evening indicated that old Bigelow was aroused to action and would make this one of the greatest years of the old church.
Dr. Chandler has created a good impression upon all who have met him and he will no doubt make his presence felt in this community before many months have gone by.

WILL DEDICATE NEW SUNDAY SCHOOL BUILDING WITH FITTING SERVICES

Tomorrow will be a day of general rejoicing and thanksgiving with the members and friends of the German Evangelical church, as on that day the new Sunday school building will be dedicated, and appropriate services held both morning and evening, to which the public is heartily invited.
Although some minor details are to be finished after the dedication it is the intention of the committee to hold all meetings in the new building in order to permit the decoration of, and the installation of an electric light and heating system in the old building at once.

For many years the members of the Evangelical church have felt the need of better accommodations for Sunday school work. The first step toward this end was taken about five years ago by the Ladies Relief Fund Society of the church, when they purchased the site next to the parsonage for $1700. A year ago last March a committee was appointed to consider the advisability of beginning with the work and finding ways and means for the consummation of the project. This committee suggested to the congregation to begin building at once, providing that $10,000 could be secured, as a former resolution of the congregation had demanded that sum before beginning.

The pastor volunteered to solicit subscriptions, and within a week had secured pledges of the required amount, and within six weeks $21,000 had been pledged. Outside of two or three public spirited citizens who voluntarily offered contributions, the entire sum was subscribed by members of the church, without any one being told how much or how little he or she was to give. From other sources, especially the sale of the old Sunday school building, over $8,000 were realized.

The building committee, which the congregation elected, was given full power to proceed. It consisted of Mr. Charles Dackler, president; Mr. W. C. Hazlebeck, secretary and treasurer; Mr. Ed. Gims, Mr. Jacob Kaly, Mr. Henry Uhl, Jr., and the pastor.
In order to make room for the new building a lot was secured on Sixth and Washington streets, the parsonage moved and remodeled at an expense of about $10,000.
The next important step was to secure a church and Sunday school architect, whose experience of years in that particular line of building would be of assistance to the committee. In securing the services of Mr. A. A. Ritcher, of Reading, Pa., the committee was exceedingly fortunate and to his plans and advice the success of the undertaking is largely due. It was his endeavor from the very beginning to erect a separate building for the Sunday school and still have it connected with the church building, following the architectural ideas laid down in the old building and still preserving the prominence of the old church building in the general plans. The contract for the building was awarded to Mr. C. E. Nourse and for heating, ventilating and lighting to The Tritschel Co. The Sunday school has a seating capacity of 750. Arrangements for the different departments and separate class rooms. The gymnasium is 12 feet high, is free from any obstructions, by piers or posts and will be fully equipped. A large kitchen with the most modern furnishings has also been provided for. Showers and toilets have also been taken care of. Without doubt the church can boast of one of the most up-to-date Sunday school buildings in the state.

As Rally Day will be observed in connection with the dedication a full attendance is anticipated.

Wanted—One Million Husbands

By WILSON VAN ORSDELL.

One million husbands are wanted—needed—in war stricken Europe.

More than one million wives and sweethearts have seen their husbands and lovers go away, gayly and bravely to the tune of martial music—never to return.

Millions of children have seen their miserable widowed mothers sit night after night by the fireside and mourn for that husband and father whose cold mutilated body lies buried in some far-away country without even a crude wooden headstone to mark the grave.

And these millions of mothers have looked up into the heavens and asked "Oh God where art thou?" That is what world war costs.

Thousands Have Also Sent Their Sons for Cannon Fodder

Thousands of European mothers, in addition to seeing their husbands go away to serve as common cannon fodder, have given their sons. They see now a picture rapidly nearing completion—the total passing of a family—the very end.

That is another "trifling expense" incurred during the waging of a world war.

This world war has been "conducting its business" more than a year now. Military experts say that the worst part of the gigantic struggle will come during the coming winter months. Military commanders agree with the experts.

And all the while the widows and children have to remain at home and ask "Oh God, where art thou?"

Bigger campaigns are being planned. The bigger the campaigns the more lives will be lost. Military commanders do not figure this horrible cost. The bigger the campaign the larger number of widowed mothers, fatherless children and forsaken lovers.

But the business of waging a world war must go on despite these "trifling costs," consequently the larger campaigns are being planned—and they will be carried out.

Extermination of Families Doesn't Deter Commanders

The fact that almost entire families—in fact almost entire races are being exterminated does not deter these commanders. The blood of war is coursing madly thru their veins, and they all are determined to conquer it matters not what the cost may be. Many of these commanders feel the cost—it comes very close to them, but they are trained to fight and to pay the costs of fighting with a grim smile of determination, and when they feel the cost—the death of a relative—they are trained to go back into battle to collect—with interest.

Experts who have kept close account of the casualties of the struggle figure that not less than 1,500,000 husbands and lovers have been killed during the first year of the war. And they also figure that the most disastrous battles are yet to be fought and that by the end of another year of war, if it can be continued that long, that there will be almost two million women in Europe who want and need husbands.

And husbands they will have to have or their entire race will be exterminated.

Where Will They Go For Mates? America, of Course

Now the question naturally arises—"where will they get them?"

The only logical answer is—"America."

Canada was considered for the first several months of the war, but with most of her fighting men either at the front or preparing to go there for king and country, it leaves only America on this side of the Atlantic. And in many sections of the United States now the women greatly outnumber the men.

But a careful look at the census figures shows that America could use at least 1,000,000 of these husband seeking women, while Canada, unless she suffers more than she has so far, could use almost an equal number.

Will these women who have been widowed by the war come to America to seek a husband and home to replace the one the business of war has taken from them? That's the question that has been before the minds of Americans ever since Europe was gripped by the ravages of strife.

There are now in the United States about one hundred and six million men and women.

In 1910 there were in these United States 47,332,122 males as compared with 41,040,144 females. Of course all of these are not adults, but the ratio is maintained among adults, and it is estimated that about 1,000,000 of this excess of males is of a marriageable age.

And in some parts of the United States it has been found necessary for cities and communities to advertise in the newspapers in other sections of the country for wives for the male inhabitants of the community, lest these men seek other sections, where an ample supply of marriageable women are to be found.

This has been in practice in some parts of Oregon for a number of years. It is also true in nearly all the large lumber and mining camps of the United States and Canada.

And it is a well known fact that no better or thrifty housewives can be found anywhere in the world than in Belgium, Germany, France and several of the other nations that are now hurling themselves at each other's throats. They are frugal, thrifty, and best of all they are also healthy and would bring a new vitality into the frontiers of the United States and Canada.

But the next question to be answered is—"will the American men welcome this influx of foreign born women, or would they rather marry American born women?"

It is a settled fact that most men want to get married. Thousands of them in the mining, farming and lumber districts refuse to remain in one place any length of time unless they are married. They are anxious to marry and settle down, but the women are lacking, so they keep moving until they enter a locality where there are enough women to go around.

Railway and Steamship Lines Prepare for Influx

The railway and steamboat lines of America and Canada are already preparing for the influx of widowed women from Europe at the end of the war.

And why should these women not come to a peaceful country? The horrors of war have taken most everything they possess except their lives, and even this has been endangered many times during the struggle. At home they have seen the flower of their young men mown down by terrible gunfire; they have seen their homes burned and pillaged, and they have sent their men away to fight for king and country, not knowing that they were sending them away to die. What does their native land hold in store for them now?

Nothing but graves, ruins, and terrifying memories of the several years ago when they were happy. They cannot be blamed for wanting to get as far away from it as it is possible, and whether they come to America for the express purpose of seeking husbands or not they will, soon after they have landed here find someone who will in a measure take the place of that one in the grave—placed there by war.

While no actual arrangements have been made for the importation of women into America, it is very apparent from the discussion on the subject that it is only a question of time before some move of this character is started.

Won't be First Time That America Has Done This

It will not be the first time that America has resorted to this means of keeping their men steadied down. Entire shiploads of them have been brought into the United States at various times, just for the purpose of being married off. It was in the early Virginia and Maryland days that the English shipped boat loads of women over here to mate with the colonists. During that time the man who had the best of the world's goods had his pick of the boat load as they came down the gang plank, he selected his wife without having ever seen her before, they were married, were perfectly happy, and the result is—America.

And America is now wondering if it will come to this again. That million men here who are of a marriageable age are willing to be married, but the scarcity of women in all sections is noted. Of course in many sections the females outnumber the males, but this is very remote.

There is another way out, and a way that has perhaps been discussed more than any other—Polygamy.

This question has occupied the minds of scientists in both America and Europe ever since they realized that the war was going to take hundreds of thousands of husbands. They say this is the only solution to the problem—that the fate of entire Europe depends on this. They assert that in the war lasts for another year, and the same per cent of men is killed that it will be necessary for each surviving male to have at least five or six wives to repopulate the countries engaged in battle.

There is still another phase of world war and this important question of what is to become of the thousands of women. Most of the young men of the warring nations will probably be killed off and the only remaining men will either be veterans of other wars.

the mutilated remnants of the flower of the respective countries, or the children who were too young to join the colors while war lasted.

European experts doubt that the countries engaged in this struggle will ever want as dense a population as they had before war started.

The war, they point out—as cruel as it has been—will have served an economic purpose. It will have relieved the intense congestion of population, especially in Germany. There will now be more room for the generations to come, these experts assert. It will, they say, in a way solve the land problems and wipe out the overcrowding in the rural districts as well as in the cities.

But if these million women who are seeking husbands come to America and Canada looking for their mates, there will be but little future generation in the countries involved in war.

Yes, the cost of conducting a world war is staggering. It is useless to delve into the financial side of the war here. At best, it is but a losing proposition financially. During no war that has ever been waged have the coffers of even the victorious country been swelled to any large extent, no matter how sweeping were their victories, for it costs, and costs dearly, even to win a world war.

That much for the human, deadly side of conducting a world war. The financial side is another.

Here's Estimated Cost of Conducting War One Year

Chancellor of the Exchequer McKenna's remarkable figures of a week ago on the cost of the war to England, totaling $7,950,000,000 and over $10,000,000,000 in dead weight by March next are completely eclipsed by a sensational estimate of the cost of the world war put forth by Edgar Crammond, one of England's most noted statisticians.

His figures, he says, are most conservative and accurately based on such authorities as Henri Masson of Belgium, Yves Guyot of France, M. Barriol of Russia, Von Renaul and Reisser of Germany and the Austrian minister of national defense.

He gives for the first year of war the direct cost as $17,000,000,000 and $50,000,000,000 the direct and indirect cost to the belligerents. On the same estimate the direct cost to date is approximately $19,500,000,000 and the indirect $52,500,000,000. Taking the countries seriously the cost is as follows:

	Direct	Indirect
Belgium .....	$ 185,000,000	$ 2,450,000,000
France .....	2,770,000,000	5,145,000,000
Russia .....	3,000,000,000	4,000,000,000
England .....	3,540,000,000	6,300,000,000
Germany .....	4,890,000,000	13,875,000,000
Austria .....	2,810,000,000	7,510,000,000

Taking no account of Japan, Serbia and Turkey, the total cost to the allies is $27,410,000,000 and to the central empires $28,885,000,000. Capital and property losses are estimated as follows:

	Capital loss	Property loss
Belgium .....	$ 200,000,000	$1,250,000,000
France .....	1,750,000,000	800,000,000
Russia .....	1,500,000,000	2,500,000,000
Germany .....	4,400,000,000	4,415,000,000
Austria .....	1,200,000,000	500,000,000

Germany's loss includes manufactures, $3,375,000,000, and agriculture, $1,000,000,000.

The daily cost to the various belligerents is as follows:

England .....	$25,000,000
France .....	12,500,000
Germany .....	22,500,000
Russia .....	12,500,000
Austria .....	6,250,000

England's enormous wealth investment abroad is expected to greatly outlast any effort at home or abroad on the part of Germany.

Says America Will be Only Solvent Nation in World

"But," says Guyot, "in five years this vast drain on the world's finances is calculated to put three-quarters of the world in pawn and leave the United States as the only solvent nation."

And these figures, when the actual cost of the war is known, will probably fall short, these men assert.

Did you know that it has been estimated, and carefully, that it costs about $2,000 to kill one soldier? And did you know that it is also estimated that it requires about 130 cannon shots to kill one man?

Here are some other facts about the world war that might be interesting to you. They are compiled by men who have been doing nothing since war began except figuring out these little details that the everyday reader overlooks. Figures show that—

Two thousand rifle bullets are expended to kill one man.

One hundred and thirty cannon shots are required for the killing of one soldier.

The loss of one battleship is equal to the farm output of an entire province for a year.

If the men at war were laid head to foot, they would form a line around the world.

Three-quarters of the civilized world is now at war.

All the horses used in the war would aggregate one horse three times as large as the palace of justice in Rome.

That will give you a faint idea of what it costs to conduct a world war. You might ask: "Where do they get the price?" We all may ask that same question and fail to get an answer.

America is going to profit by this world war just as one of the above experts has stated.

America Also Stands a Chance of Losing by War

But there is also the chance of America losing by it, not only financially, but in other ways. In addition to this million of women who might come over here seeking husbands, there are going to be thousands upon thousands of the halt, the lame and the blind left when the last boom of the powerful cannon is heard. There is going to be little for them to do in their wasted lands. Their thoughts will naturally turn towards America—the land of freedom.

That's the part the United States will have to look out for.

The United States is feeling the effects of the war in one way, now that few of us have taken into consideration. We have the word of one of the most famous American detectives for the fact that since the war began hundreds of the most skillful criminals in the world have crossed the ocean to America, where all is peace and prosperity. He bases his assertions on the increased number of thefts, which have been pulled in a manner that heretofore have characterized the theft in England and France.

These clever international thieves have reaped rich harvests in various points of Europe from the tourists. The tourist is a thing of the past in Europe right now. Their source of supply, gone, these crooks naturally turn towards the land where there is plenty—both peace and prosperity. This detective's name is Val O'Farrell, and he has solved some of the most baffling mysteries in New York and many other American cities. He predicts that this country is about to experience the greatest epidemic of crime it has ever known. He asserts that it has already begun and that the chances of stemming it immediately are very slim.

Taking it as a whole, when the balance sheet of conducting a world war is tallied up, there is little left except misery.

The Collector—War

BY VAN

Private Jameson was waiting for a full in the trench fighting. Not because he was a coward, or that he was more tired than usual, but he had a letter inside his shirt—a thick letter that for fifteen hours had remained unopened.

The fighting during the last fifteen hours had been unusually severe, and Jameson had had no opportunity to read it.

But he knew what it contained. He recognized the handwriting. He knew that inside that soiled envelope were two loving messages of cheerfulness from the only two persons in the whole world who cared whether the next bullet crashed through his brain or not—his old mother, and Jane.

When he left his little home months and months ago to fight for his king and country he had taken everything with him, everything except his heart. This, with all his love he had left behind for these two women to treasure, one old, grey, and withered, the other in full bloom of young womanhood, from whose face the fruits of simple living sparkled.

He had told these two that he would be back, but he didn't know for sure, and this day especially had been crowded with ill-looking clouds for him, and for the first time during these months of trench warfare he had felt cowardly. He had not felt as bold in today's engagements as he had heretofore, and he wondered why.

The order came to climb out of the trenches and charge those occupied by the enemy. Jameson heard this order with dread in his mind. He wondered if he could lie down, and whether they would believe him wounded, but the fighting blood of his forefathers moved, uttered strange sounds, conquered, and he clambered out, and was in the front ranks of the charge, saying to himself—"I'll read my letter after we have captured this trench."

That bullet came, crashed performed, a small piece of bone through Private Jameson's skull, removed from the brain, and Private

Jameson was a sane man again. He first asked for his letter, after which he was told all. The quiet little nurse knew what would happen then she would lose him, and she loved him, with a deep, sorrowful love that expected no return. She had resigned herself to the fact that he would always be the raving maniac, but she was fascinated, and the fascination rapidly ripened into love.

She had been offered transfers several times, but had refused each offer, saying she resired to remain where she was.

Jameson's recovery was rapid. Within a week he was preparing to go back to the little home among the hills. He knew it wouldn't be the same home, for Jameson's enemies had carried that trench on that memorable day, as they had carried his country, and his home was now in the hands of aliens, but he knew that an old mother and Jane would be there to receive him, and he hastened to them.

He didn't know that back there he had been placed among the dead list years ago, so he started out from the asylum with a light heart, leaving the little nurse to fight her battle alone, for little did he know her real feelings as she pressed his hand in fond farewell.

Private Jameson arrived back home about dusk one midsummer afternoon. He found the old homestead a mass of debris. He kept going from one old familiar place to the other. Ruin greeted him on every side, for the little town had been an unimportant one, and the enemy had been slow at rebuilding it. It was a dead town—nothing but waste and desolation greeted him. Grass had sprung up in the streets, and huge rats scurried to safety as he approached.

His steps led towards the village church, where he, his mother and Jane were wont to go before he was ordered by his king to go out and fight men against whom he had no grievance.

There in the little cemetery behind the church he saw a poor frail figure in black. Alongside the road was a military auto, occupied by an enemy lieutenant. Jameson longed to crash this man with his hands, but he dared not. He was looking for mother and Jane, so he stepped in a clump of bushes to wait.

"Good-bye mother," he heard the girl man, as she rushed herself from the grave. "I know that you and Bob will forgive me for what I am about to do, but what other road is there for me to take. When you meet Bob in Heaven tell him I loved him to the last," and with a long sob she ran, jumped into the military auto and was whirled away.

It was Jane.

Private Jameson was sure—too sure. He thanked God for seeing her once more, and knelt at the grave of Mother.

STORM DEATH LIST MAY BE 500

Known Dead 224, Loss Is Millions

New Orleans, Oct. 2.—The number of known dead, reported dead, and persons missing in Louisiana and Mississippi as a result of Wednesday night's tropical hurricane, was put at 249 in a total list compiled here today from reports that came in from many points on the Gulf coast and in the interior.

Property damage was estimated at $15,000,000.

It was considered certain early today that the total dead in the storm would number at least 500. The known death list already stands at 224, with 208 reported dead. In addition there are 117 known missing.

While undoubtedly there has been some duplication in tabulation of reports of bodies found, it was said there were indications that the dead could not be fewer than 500.

Property damage throughout the storm-swept territory has been enormous, and in many places the destruction complete. Relief parties returning today from the Delta section said that the rich plantations in that section had been wiped out; crops ruined, orange trees destroyed, buildings decimated and washed out to sea, and that the country for miles was under water four to 15 feet deep. The levees in many places have been destroyed, adding new menace to the inhabitants and rendering more difficult the work of rehabilitation. River pilots expressed the opinion that it would be impossible to construct the levees in many places.

Many people today still were reported marooned on the tops of undamaged levees, where they took refuge when the full fury of the storm broke.

While no official estimate has been obtainable of the storm damage in this state and along the Mississippi coast, persons familiar with the territory believe that it will approximate $12,000,000. This estimate is considered conservative.

Relief work is progressing rapidly, due in great part to the quick recovery made here and in larger cities from the effects of the hurricane. Vessels left yesterday from practically every point along the coast to visit isolated villages, fishing settlements and camps which were in the path of the hurricane.

COLUMBUS RACES WILL END TODAY

Columbus, Oct. 2.—With a program of four events, the Columbus Grand Circuit racing meet will close today. The Buckeye $5,000 stake for 2:12 trotters which was to be decided yesterday when rain caused a postponement of all events, is the most attractive race on today's card. The 2:09 pace, in which Fern Hall won two heats, and Fred Russell took one on Thursday, is to be finished. To complete the card, 240 pacers and 2:15 trotters will be called out.

COMMISSION PLANS WORLD SERIES TODAY

Commission shall pick only champion New York, Oct. 2.—The National Baseball Commission met here today to select the date and place for the first game of the World's series between the Philadelphia Nationals and the Boston Americans. Whether Boston or Philadelphia will be the site of the opening game, was to be decided by Harry F. Hermann, president of the commission, who had been delegated to flip a coin for that purpose. A warm argument was expected over the date.

The representatives of the American League favored playing the first game on Friday, October 8, while the Nationals want to start the war on Saturday, October 9. Adoption of a scale of prices for seats at the games was another point to be settled by the commission. Unanimous were to be chosen.

WILL CLOSE LISTS OF LOAN NEXT WEEK

New York, Oct. 2.—Underwriters of the $500,000,000 Anglo-French bond issue soon to be offered the public were of the opinion today that the entire amount would be subscribed to within a few days. The lists would be closed in all probability early next week, probably Monday.

Financial institutions which comprise the underwriting syndicate in New York were cheered by the support given them from Jewish clients, a source from which they had not expected subscriptions to such an extent as have been realized during the three days that have elapsed since the details of the underwriting were published.

The definite announcement by a member of the Anglo-French commission that Russia would not be a participant in the funds derived is believed to have ended, to a large extent, in the decision of Jews to subscribe.

Figures as to the total subscribed placed the sum at $365,000,000. Thursday night, the remaining $135,000,000, it was thought would be obtained without great difficulty. Many western cities and towns are yet to be heard from and those already reported, it was said, support had been stronger than at first anticipated.

It is the plan of the underwriters, is to give all commissioners a chance to share in the participation. In the possible event of a

Wilson Kneels, Asks God's Aid As He Opens Cabinet Meeting

Indianapolis, Oct. 2.—How President Wilson went down on his knees and led his cabinet in prayer at a recent meeting was told here yesterday by Bishop William F. Anderson, of Cincinnati, at a session of the Indiana Methodist Episcopal Conference. A United States senator told the bishop of the incident he said. The senator had heard it from one of the cabinet members who prayed with the president.

"When the president arrived at the cabinet meeting," said Bishop Anderson, "his face wore a solemn look. It was evident that serious affairs of the nation were on his mind. He said to the cabinet members, 'I don't know whether you men believe in prayer or not. I do. Let us pray and ask the help of God.'"

And right there the president of the United States fell upon his knees and the cabinet did the same and the president offered a prayer to God. While the war rages in Europe we in this country should thank God that in this crisis of the world we have a chief executive who is a servant of God and who stands with his hand in the hand of God. Every minister in the land should, every time he offers a prayer, take Woodrow Wilson by the hand and lead him into the presence of God, and ask that he be given strength to continue to be the great apostle of peace among men.

There were cries of "Amen" among the ministers. Later a telegram expressing the confidence of the delegates in him was sent the president.

MACHINISTS PICKET CLEVELAND FACTORY

Cleveland, Oct. 2.—Pickets today were on duty at the plant of the Cleveland Automatic Machine company, which closed last night following a strike of 600 machinists employed in making machinery for the manufacture of shells to fill war orders.

If strike breakers are used by the plant leaders of the strikers say they will call out every machinist in Cleveland, numbering close to 20,000. A mass meeting of strikers at which their demands for shorter hours and wages and a plan to be made it to be held today. Officers of the company were awaiting the arrival of Arthur L. Garford of Elyria, president of the company, who was hurrying to the city by automobile to take charge of the situation.

BANKERS RUSH TO BUY LOAN STOCK

New York, Oct. 2.—Members of the big syndicate of banks, trust companies and private banking houses which will manage the $500,000,000 bond issue negotiated here by the Anglo-French loan commission had received today a flood of applications from banks and individuals for permission to participate in underwriting the loan. Although the subscription books have not yet been opened, it was stated that offers to buy the bonds already have amounted in the aggregate to many millions.

A maximum estimate of the total subscriptions already offered placed the amount as high as $430,000,000. Subscription came from Chicago, Pittsburgh, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Philadelphia, Boston and other cities.

At the office of J. P. Morgan and Company it was said that the aggregate of the sums offered by applicants to take part in the underwriting had not been computed, and no statement as to when the syndicate membership would be closed was yet ready.

That some of the subscriptions will be very large was indicated by the statement that one of the most wealthy men in the United States had offered $30,000, and that other offers ranging from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 have been made by New York banks or large corporations here.

Sir Edward Tilden, one of the members of the Anglo-French commission, was quoted today as saying that in his opinion the loan was so superior in income yield to anything in London, that he expects a large amount of it will find its way to that city.

"Both English and French investors are already making extensive applications for it," said Sir Edward.

In the announcement of the terms of the loan, virtually anybody with $1,000 to invest was offered a bond at 96 1/4—the price to the syndicate—1 3/4 percent under the figure designated as the selling price to the individual subscriber, which was fixed at 98. The apparent conflict was reconciled by the admission of practically all investors to the underwriting syndicate. The investor who obtains a small lot of the bonds at 96 1/4, however, must do so through a bond house or other member of the syndicate, such member simply transferring to him without commission the bonds at the cost price.

"When the entire $500,000,000 is spoken for, it was stated, no more individuals will be permitted to subscribe at 96 1/4."

GEMS WORTH $100,000 ADORN ACTRESSES IN FASHION DRAMA

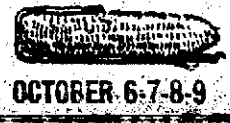

Miss Dorothy Richardson, wearing necklace of pink crepe de chine, in fashion drama.

Glittering gems worth $100,000 were worn at the opening of a most interesting and novel fashion display at a New York theater a few days ago. The display was in the form of a three-act drama, and some of the prettiest actresses took part. The show with costumes and accessories will commence a tour of other cities within a few days.

BIG RACE POSTPONED

OCTOBER 6-7-8-9

BRITISH FORCES ARE REPULSED

Constantinople, Oct. 2.—(Via London)—Announcement was made by the war office today that the British forces in Mesopotamia were repulsed in the recent fighting. The report follows:

"The battle was very violent, but the attack finally failed, notwithstanding the fact that the British forces were four times stronger than ours."

"On the Irak front our advanced detachments on Sept. 28 surprised a hostile force which landed on the bank of the Tigris north of Korna under the protection of gunboats. We inflicted heavy losses on them."

Announcement was made in the House of Commons on Wednesday that the British had defeated the Turks, who were said to be in full retreat toward Bagdad.

This information was forwarded today by the Athens correspondent of the Havas News Agency, who asserts it was obtained from a reliable source. It is believed the principal point of concentration will be along the upper Strouma river, southwest of Sofia, near the Serbian border.

Bulgaria Mobilizes Men Up To 58 Years

Rome, (Via Paris) Oct. 2.—Bulgaria is mobilizing all men up to the age of 58 years, according to the Corriere Della Sera, Belgrade correspondent. No citizen under forty-five is permitted to leave the country, and martial law has been proclaimed.

Pro-German manifestations are reported in Bulgarian cities along the Danube. Bulgarian artillery, the correspondent asserts, is being massed along the frontier of Dobrudja, apart of Rumania, bounded by the Black Sea and the Danube, which was taken from Bulgaria in 1878 and given to Rumania. This section has a cosmopolitan population.

England Sends U. S. Long Export Note

Washington, Oct. 2.—Great Britain's answer to reports widely circulated in this country that she has been interfering with legitimate trade of the United States with neutral European nations for the benefit of her own exporters is given in a note handed to Ambassador Page at London by Sir Edward Grey, the foreign minister, and made public here last night by the state department.

Data and figures are quoted at length to prove that where British exports and re-exports have increased the growth of similar trade from the United States has been many times as large, while in many cases there have been vast increases of American exports compared with decreases in those from the United Kingdom.

The note, which is in response to the British ambassador's report of a reference at the state department to the unfavorable impression created here by reports of increases in British trade with northern European countries since the war began, suggests also that statements concerning Great Britain's policy have been inspired by German agents.

August 13 is the date of the document, which was transmitted by mail instead of by cable.

U. S. Warships Play Game Of War

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 2.—Fourteen of the United States greatest fighting ships are today at anchor in Hampton Roads, coaling and provisioning, preparatory in participation in the greatest war game ever attempted by the navy. The battleship Wyoming and two colliers are up Chesapeake Bay engaged in experimental practice.

The ships will be divided into two parts. One will be known as the invaders and the others as the defenders. The invaders will attempt to elude the defenders so as to gain entrance to an American port.

The ships will be strewn out along the coast from Florida to the coast of Maine. The battleship Wyoming will be the flagship of the invading fleet.

The Wyoming is trying her big guns at Target Range.

Nick Carter Here For A Short Visit

Wearing the same old smile and all dolled up Nick Carter arrived here Friday evening on his way to Cleveland, O., where he will spend the winter. He pitched fine ball for the Cleveland A. A. team and when sent to the Cleveland American league team he won a number of games for the Indians.

Nick is looking fine and dandy and his many friends here were certainly glad to see the big fellow. He looked up his former teammate Irish Conwell last night and they with Eddie Meehan played a lot of games over again.

Nick developed rapidly after being sold by the Portsmouth team and today is recognized as one of the best pitchers in the American league.

Nick Likes Lajoie

"They can talk about all the hitters they want to, but I think Lajoie of the Athletics is just about the best hitter in the game today," said Nick Carter when drawn into a fanning bee last night.

"At least he has been able to hit everything I put over the plate to him. Lajoie sure can wallop the old pill."

WHO WILL MANAGE PIRATES?

Who will manage the Pirates next year? Wagner, in the opinion of many, would be too easy with the men. Finckman, on the other hand, showed well, in an executive ability while with the Cleveland club a number of years ago when he handled the club in the absence of the regular leader.

JACK BARRY, WITH RED SOX NOW, HOLDS RECORD FOR TAKING WORLD SERIES COIN

Jack Barry.

There have been players who have figured in the golden harvest of as many as four world's series, but Jack Barry, formerly with the Athletics but now with the Red Sox, is the only player known to have taken a coin from each of the four series. His first four netted him exactly $10,985.45, and now, his fifth has something like $14,000 to his credit when the approaching season is determined.

DODE GETS REWARD FOR NOT HURDLING

Dode Parkert.

Dode Parkert is going to get his reward for remaining loyal to the Phillies. He joined that club in 1911. Last year he had a chance to jump to the Feds. The amount of money hung on the contract made it alluring, but Dode turned it down. "The Philly fans have pulled for me and owe it to them to stick as long as they want me," said Dode. "Now he's in for a nice fat slice of world series cake."

Toney In Front

The leading pitchers in the National league are: Toney, Cincinnati, won 16; lost 4; Alexander, Philadelphia 31 and 9; Monahan, Pittsburgh 21 and 7; Pierce, Chicago, 13 and 7; Coombs, Brooklyn, 15 and 9; S. Smith, Brooklyn, 13 and 8; Ragan, Boston 17 and 11; Standridge, Chicago 8 and 2; Vaughn, Chicago 15 and 13; Pfeffer, Brooklyn 17 and 12.

Household Goods Here

The household effects of Dr. W. A. Ray, who will make his future home in Portsmouth, arrived from Jackson, Friday.

100 YEAR OLD PUMPKIN

T. J. Basham, of Porter township, claims to have a pumpkin that is over 100 years old. He says it was grown in 1814 and has been handed down from one generation of the Basham family to another. He is going to enter it in the Pumpkin Show during the Korn Carnival, along with one grown this year. Both are the same size, about as large as a barrel head.

SLIDE DELAYS TRAFFIC

A small dirt slide, 100 yards east of Frank Raking's store at Star Yards, blocked traffic on the Scioto-ville street car line Friday morning.

Sure It Has

The fame of Portsmouth's Korn Carnival has reached Columbus, according to Prosecuting Attorney Micklethwait, who returned from that city Friday noon. He said that every one with whom he came in contact was talking about the Carnival and that many of them were planning to come.

Prowler Chased

The strange actions of a rough looking fellow at Fifth and Lincoln streets excited the suspicions of residents of that vicinity Friday night and they notified the police. Officer Bob Lauderback was dispatched to the scene but the prowler made good his escape down a nearby alley.

WATER CAUSES $400 DAMAGE AT NEW BOSTON

Damage estimated at $400 was caused from the hard rains at New Boston Thursday night.

The water from Turkey Run empties into the stone sewer that runs through the G. M. Warder basement. Recently the sewer was connected with the village storm sewer, which is not complete. The sewer has an outlet at present into the lake, but the valve was not opened Thursday and the water was backed up, the result being that Druggist Ernest Coburn's, G. M. Warder's, Harless Bros.' and Mrs. Phil Emmert's basements were flooded.

Stock stored in Coburn's basement was damaged to the extent of $250. Mr. Warder places his loss at $30 on canned fruit, gas fixtures and household goods. Harless Bros. had two new rugs and furniture ruined, the damage being close to $100.

Fred Bolander lost considerable cement stored in the rear of the Warder place.

Mrs. Emmert places her loss at $25. A gasoline engine used to pump water into the small reservoir on the hill was badly damaged.

A five gallon can of gasoline was spilled when the water rose in the basement and it ignited from a water tank heater. The gasoline burned on top of the water. An electric washing machine was destroyed.

Lightning Made Fountain. Lightning struck a telegraph pole in the upper part of New York city a few weeks ago and turned it into a fountain. Investigation showed that the lightning had ruptured a water main beneath the pavement and that the path provided by the tubular pole was the only means of escape for the leaking water. Since, to shut off the main would have deprived a large district of its water supply, the impromptu fountain was allowed to run during the night, and the main was repaired next day.

Boston Hurlsmen Leading Pitchers

The leading pitchers in the American league are: Shore, Boston, won 20 and lost 7; Foster, Boston, 20 and 7; Ruth, Boston, 17 and 7; Leonard, Boston, 16 and 6; Boland, Detroit, 15 and 6; Davis, Detroit 23 and 11; Johnson, Washington 26 and 13; Scott, Chicago, 23 and 13; Fisher, Chicago, 23 and 13; Galla, Washington, 17 and 10; Fisher, New York, 18 and 11.

"Smoky" Joe Wood, of Boston, won 14 and lost 4.

HAS IRONCLAD CONTRACT

Rube Marquard, the eccentric south-paw, in his last few starts, has shown nothing that would merit keeping him on the Brooklyn payroll. He has been battered from the box with frequency.

However, Marquard's contract, one of those supposedly iron-clad affairs, holds good until the end of the 1916 season, so that even if he is chased off into the bushes he will draw big league salary until October of next year.

TAFT'S SON AT HALFBACK

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 2.—Charles P. Taft, son of former President William H. Taft, was promoted to right half-back on the Yale varsity football team at today's practice. He displaced Hal Scoville, one of the stars of last year's eleven. Taft is a sophomore. He was a member of the champion Yale basketball team last winter.

OUTLAWS WILL BE ABLE TO PLAY

FORMER LOCAL RESIDENT IS ON A VISIT TO CITY

Mr. N. T. Peek, who was a resident of the Bear Creek neighborhood 30 years ago, is here from his present home, Napa, California on a visit, being a guest at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. George H. Watkins. Mr. Peek formerly owned the land now owned by Senator Lauman, selling out to him when he decided to go west. He is accompanied by Mr. M. J. Wittlinger, a newspaper man of Napa, and the two have made quite an extensive tour of the east prior to coming to Portsmouth. Among other places they visited in Washington, where Mr. Peek attended the reunion of the G. A. R. for a couple of days.

INCREASE IN RECEIPTS

Business in the city is growing better in all lines.

The postal receipts for this month, a splendid barometer, testify to this. The receipts for September in 1914 were $6,052.37 and in September 1915 they were $7,253.13, a net increase of $1,272.76.

DIVORCE CASE IS HEARD

Judge A. T. Halcomb was appointed by Judge Thomas Friday afternoon to hear the evidence in the divorce case of Christina M. Medley, of Black Fork, against her husband, Ora Medley. The plaintiff charges gross neglect and abandonment. The hearing was held in the room adjoining the court room, and a report will be made to the court, which will govern his decision. Theodore K. Funk was her attorney.

With the Nature Truant

As Seen by the Man-with-the-Grouch.

UT of doors the early summer sunbathing fell in dancing golden waves. Fresh breezes flew down the avenue bringing hints of summer fragrance. Even the cry of the peeper with his baskets of strawberries suggested an escape with a bucolic atmosphere. "What's the use of staying here?" grumbled the Man-with-the-Grouch. "There's nobody but growlers and kickers all about me."

"My attempts at work are interrupted by the blasts of the dynamites in the new subway."

"Between explosions I have to listen to old Skinfitt growling because not alone can he get no sleep after five o'clock in the morning, but that the noise follows him here to the club and keeps him awake all day."

"If he drops asleep, by any chance, then I have to listen to Blinsky growling about his domestic relations and explain to him that under present conditions the regulators of public morals, for the first time in their self-appointed task, have to censor the afternoon festivities in restaurants and cabarets."

"The man on my left tells me the country ought to be building new submarines, while the man on my right is quite as positive in telling me that we should do nothing of the kind."

"When I'm trying to come out of the daze with which their half-baked ideas have thrown me they both start off on a new tangent as to why we should, and why we should not, go to war."

THE GARTHEE CASE.

Bird Garthee's experience with his liquor license Friday was something like that of Finnegan with his train. First he was on, then he was off, then he was on again. The trouble came about through failure by the county clerk's office to notify the state license board that Garthee's conviction in mayor's court had been reversed. There is a section in the license law which makes it mandatory on the mayor or police judge to notify the state board when a saloon keeper is convicted of a violation of law. It is further provided that when such conviction is appealed to the common pleas court the clerk of said court shall notify the state license board, and shall later notify it as to the disposition of the appeal. Proper notification was sent by the mayor, but no notice was sent in when the case was appealed nor when Garthee subsequently won out.

The state board acted upon the information in its possession, but rescinded its action upon receipt of more detailed information. We have an idea however, that Garthee will be mighty careful hereafter not to bump up against the license law in any respect. It is not a law that can be monkeyed with.

SIBLEY'S DELIGHTFUL WEATHER.

October, usually the modest month in the year, is going to be a corker, according to a number of prophets who make long-distance forecasts and actually hit it sometimes. According to them we shall have a variation from July heat to December snow storms, with November frosts sandwiched in to make it interesting.—Hillsboro Dispatch.

A corn grower here who read the dispatch in The Times the other day about the demand in Franklin county for corn cutters and the wages said to be paid up there, remarked that there was a difference in the work that accounted for the wage difference. In Scioto county they cut 12 hills to the square, while in Franklin county they cut 16 hills to the square. Taking transportation into consideration, corn cutters can make as much locally, or nearly as much, as if they were farther north. Then too, they have jobs here, if they go away they will have to lose time in getting located. If you are a corn cutter and have a job here, better stick to it. You will make money in the long run.

It must be a sad handicap to a man of genius to have to hold forth in a town whose first settlers marked the beginning of their abode by opening casks of wine and going in bathing with Indian maidens. And so we will not hereafter have the heart to comment, at the pessimistic tone that occasionally permeates the writings of a certain distinguished journalist of Gallipolis. We will not mention any names for the poor man doubtless feels badly enough about it as it is.

The supreme court has sensibly decided that arguments against as well as for constitutional amendments shall be circulated by the secretary of state. That is right and just and fair. Let the people be officially informed of all angles of such important matters, and if the state sends out information for one side it should send out similar arguments for the opposition.

When you Republicans and Democrats go to vote on the congressional gerrymander bill in November, just remember that under the present law Scioto county is the dominating county in the Sixth district and has a most important say as to candidates. Under the Sprague law we will be in the Tenth and Scioto will be one of half a dozen strongly Republican counties, each ambitious to rule the rest. Hadn't we better stay where we are?

The only trouble about a newspaper getting out special editions is that we do not get to sit around and talk it over among ourselves, for the moment the edition goes to press we have to dig in and see to it that everything is in shape for the editions of the next day. A newspaper is truly an institution of today. Tomorrow it is history—or forgotten.

It would not be at all proper and fitting if the Scioto river did not act up on the eve of the Korn Carnival, and threaten to carry out our steeple temporary bridge. And we suppose that when the big bridge and the Great White Way are completed, the old river will settle meekly down and never think of rampaging around.

At the first registration day less than Two Hundred women availed themselves of the opportunity, out of the thousands here who have the right to vote on members of the board of education. This too with a woman candidate in the field for member of the school board. And yet we are told that women are clamoring for the ballot.

The liquor license law in Ohio means something and saloon men who do not live up to its provisions soon find that out to their sorrow. That is one reason why the old law should be sustained at the election next month and the make-shift McDermott bill sent to the scrap heap.

Here it is October and our ladies aid societies are still giving ice cream suppers. What's the matter with the church oyster?

CALLING IN THE GOAT?

SHALL THE OLD PASTOR BE SHOT?

Has the church a soul? This question, printed three times on the first page of a Chicago paper, is asked by a church layman who protests publicly against the action of certain church members in discharging their pastor of 15 years' service because he is guilty of having grown old. All sorts of nice things are said of his present work and past record except that he has passed the ministerial dead line of 50 years.

On its face a brutal proposal, at bottom the question of the aged minister's place has a practical side.

The church has been charged with being behind the times. One of its answers is the marked tendency to put young men into the pulpit. Youth understands youth. In fishing for men the churches must use the bait that will catch the fish. Hence, it is said, we must have men of youth, able to endure the physical strain of modern parish work, apt to voice in terse phrases the gospel which will attract the worldly, indifferent and careless masses of the day.

Pathetic, indeed, if not merciless is the condition, reflecting the tenseness of these times, which puts 200 old ministers of one denomination alone in the city of Los Angeles out of service to the cause which they were, as they believed, "divinely called" to support.

But the church must also consider its own efficiency. No institution can last which habitually exiles those of its leaders who have had the benefit of experience. Perhaps the older pastor who is not so gifted with the aggressive spirit of the age as his young competitor is really the man needed for many a situation. Modern emphasis on physical culture has set the line of efficiency far ahead of what it has been in former years for many men. At Plainwell, Mich., only a few days ago a church celebrated the 50th anniversary of the single pastorate of one man, who at 84 years of age is as alert and modern-minded as the neighborhood seems to desire. Youth is not always a matter of years but of spirit.—Akron Beacon-Journal.

That storm we had Thursday night was the tail end of the hurricane that smashed things in New Orleans. This is about the fifth tail ender we have had this season and we are willing enough to call it quits and say no more about it, without wanting the real thing to come along and blow us off the map.

Cincinnati was much in evidence at the reunions at Washington this week. One of her sons was elected commander of the Sons of Veterans and another was chosen head of the G. A. R. Dispatches do not say as to whether or not there was anything else loose.

Let 'er rain. It's got to quit some time, hasn't it? And if it does all the raining it can right now why don't you see we are that much more certain to have grand and glorious weather for our Carnival next week.

Nothing else is so important to a man as good health, especially as the neighbor women, if he happened to be laid up for a couple of days, would feel it their duty to ascribe reasons for his distressing condition which would be no credit to him.—Ohio State Journal.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.

O. O. MCINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 2.—"Bobbie" Brown, the little Winter Garden chorus girl, went to her death the other week after a gay party at a city-owned restaurant and as a result the city may take away the concessionaire's license.

The girl and another occupant of the motor car were killed in a collision on the Pelham Park speedway while "joy riding" from the restaurant at 3 o'clock in the morning. At the funeral of the chorus girl her mother made a public and pitiful appeal to the other girls present.

She warned them against the allurements of the stage door Johnnies and the highball, cocktail, tango accompaniments of the road houses and other cafes. Two men who were in the auto accident are said to be facing divorce actions. They were uninjured, but their wives were shocked at reading they were in the automobile.

Franklin P. Adams, considered one of Park Row's brightest humorists, declares that the year's best pleasure was pulled by a rival humorist, James Montague, of the American. Here it is: "Judging by the reports, they reversed the usual Broadway program at the McFarland-Gibbons prize fight at Brighton Beach. A couple of tired business men supplied the entertainment."

William Paversham and his manager, Leonard Gallagher, were on the Paversham yacht The Hawk the Sunday morning after the McFarland-Gibbons fight. Being anxious to learn who won Gallagher went ashore at Norwalk to get a newspaper. On the road he encountered a German fisherman. "Have you a newspaper?" asked Gallagher.

"I had von, but it is printed in German," replied the fisherman. "Well, can you tell me who won the fight?" "Oh, sure!" replied the Tenth. "Das Chermans vin."

There is no blonde famine in New York. Now you may sit back and rest easier. The palpitating news has been heralded to a waiting world that from Helen of Troy to Gaby des Lys no fairer lilies have raised their golden heads to a dazzled sun than can be encountered between Thirty-Fifth street and Fifty-ninth, Sixth to Eighth avenues.

The hunt for blondes started when a city editor read that in Chicago the Fashion Art League of America declare that it is getting harder every day to find a good-looking blonde. There are plenty of brunettes, but the league has sent out a macedonian cry to the Atlantic seaboard for more blonde beauties.

The very latest thing in looks for New York, however, is henna-colored hair. It is said to be very easy to get and for this reason probably will not last long.

A real bear and a play-lion came to grief on Broadway the other day. The bear was Felice, a five months old cub, owned and accompanied by Phil Dwyer, an actor, who played the lion, in "Androcles and the Lion". A charge of disorderly conduct was placed against Dwyer.

EXPECT ABOUT 30 FT. STAGE IN OHIO RIVER

W. C. Deveraux, of Cincinnati, the U. S. government forecaster for this district, in his Saturday morning report stated that the Ohio river would continue rising here for the next 30 hours at a decreasing rate.

The local stage at 10 o'clock was 25 1/2 ft. and rising at the rate of 3 inches per hour. Captain Harry Donnelly, local river observer, does not expect the Ohio to go any higher than 30 or 31 ft. This will save the corn lands on higher ground in the Scioto bottoms and also the Ohio bottom, it taking 35 to 40 ft. to inundate them.

Although a solid mass of heavy drift that reached clear to the bottom of the river was lodged against its side, and water was running across the floor in spots the temporary bridge across the Scioto was still holding Saturday morning.

The bridge floor had risen in a few places and it was generally believed that the bridge is sure to go out again. Henry Knel was still hopeful that the Ohio river would continue rising sufficient to permit the floating of the drift across the floor of the bridge. He purposely had his men to remove the guard rails of the bridge so that this might be done and his men worked all night holding back the drift and assembling all at one end.

The bridge is closed to travel although a few foot passengers occasionally venture across. The Scioto had slackened up, some by 8:30 Saturday morning. The Ohio's big rise checked the other stream and is all that held the temporary bridge in place. The Ohio jumped from 11 ft. Friday morning at 7 o'clock to 24.9 ft. at that hour, Saturday morning. Much light drift poured out by the small side streams was ruining.

On top of the big rainfall by the Big Sandy and Kanawha valleys and along the entire south side of the Ohio river was also the big volume of pool water released by the throwing of the locks of Ohio river government dams, Nos. 26 and 28, and all of the locks, and dams along the Kanawha river.

The Scioto still lacked a foot or more Saturday morning of reaching the low ground. It requires a 26 ft. stage to reach the corn land there while a 35 ft. stage puts water over the entire Scioto bottom lands. John Flinnigan had a force of men and about ten teams and wagons busy Saturday morning removing his corn. Others were also making preparations to remove their crops rather than take any chances.

The Ohio is rising from Parkersburg down where the stage Saturday morning was 15.2 ft. A rise of 7.3 ft. Rainfall .21 Charleston reported 14 ft. and rising, a rise of 6.2 ft. Rainfall .10. At Pt. Pleasant it was 19.5 ft. and rising, a rise of 8.7 ft. Rainfall .10. The stage at Huntington was 31 ft. and rising, a rise of 9 ft. Rainfall .06. A stage of 30 ft. is expected there according to the Herald-Dispatch of that city. Catlettsburg reported 23.5 ft. and rising, a rise of 19.2 ft. Rainfall .08. The Ohio stage at Pittsburgh was 6.3 ft. and a slow rise has just begun there.

An Associated Press dispatch to The Times says there is no rise in the Scioto river at Columbus or north of that city and that there had been only about one-half inch of rain. The stage at Columbus Saturday morning was 3 ft., a rise of one-tenth of a foot since Friday.

Pool Balls Used In Exciting Battle, One Man Arrested

An exciting battle with pool balls was staged at the Marshall saloon, corner of Thirteenth and Railroad streets, late Friday afternoon.

All balls from off two tables were thrown back and forth, and the wonder is that someone was not seriously injured.

Bill Glascoe was caught square on the right arm by one of the balls and painfully hurt. It was Glascoe who innocently precipitated the trouble, according to his own statements to the police.

Glascoe had made a remark, to which a strange railroad negro took exception. Glascoe assured him that he meant no harm, but the other persisted in referring to the remark, and began making threats. This was out in the rear yard. Once he was inside the saloon he began picking up pool balls and throwing them at Glascoe, who was kept busy dodging them, until he finally managed to get hold of a cue stick.

Dick Ferguson, owner of the property, stepped in just as the battle was at its height and tried to restore order. He claimed afterward that it required the combined efforts of three men, from preventing Glascoe to get hold of a gun. The strange negro escaped, on a passing N. & W. freight train, amid a shower of rocks.

Ferguson hurried to police headquarters later and filed an affidavit against Glascoe, charging him with disorderly conduct. Both Ferguson and Glascoe failed to appear when court convened Saturday morning, but the latter showed up later and claimed that Ferguson told him that he did not have to report. He was told to report again Monday morning.

Garthee Again In Business; License Given Back To Him

Bird Garthee, Chillicothe street saloon keeper, who had a lively run in with the state liquor licensing board Friday, and who had to close up his saloon for a short time, is again doing business at the old stand having convinced the board that they had acted upon insufficient evidence in his case.

The state board sent a letter to the local board ordering Garthee's license revoked because it was alleged he had twice been convicted in police court of violation of the liquor laws. Acting upon this the local board removed Garthee's license Friday afternoon and he at once closed his place. He placed the matter in the hands of his attorney and soon had the matter straightened out. It appears that about a year ago while in business on Market street Garthee was tried and convicted in police court. He appealed this case and his appeal was sustained, the higher court holding his conviction not in accord with the evidence. The state board was not notified of the reversal and when Garthee was convicted recently in the primary day case, the record of two convictions was made against him and his license ordered revoked. Upon being informed of the reversal over the telephone by the local license board the license was ordered restored and the clerk of courts here was instructed to send a transcript showing the true status of the case. This will clear Garthee's record on the state records and he will be entitled to renewal of his license, provided nothing else turns up to prevent.

Garthee had a lively hour Friday, however, before he got matters straightened out.

WIFE OBJECTS TO CHARLEY CHAPLIN SLAPS; WANTS HER HUSBAND ARRESTED

Mrs. Nellie Phillips, a Front street young woman, complained to the police Friday evening that her husband had slapped her with some of his Charley Chaplin slaps Friday evening and not in fun either.

Mrs. Phillips told Chief Allen that she had met a friend and had walked out street with him when suddenly she caught sight of her husband impersonating Charley Chaplin approaching, he having been employed to enact that role for a theatre. "Aw, that's not him," reassuringly remarked her friend, but she insisted it was and became very nervous. Drawing himself up to his full height and assuming a bold front, her escort bravely exclaimed: "Well, what of it, let him come on." Both felt relieved when Chaplin brushed past them without as much as looking in their direction but the fur flew when Phillips reached home, according to the wife, he "slapping the Dickens out of her." She filed an affidavit against him in the mayor's court, charging him with assault.

L. G. Welch, proprietor of the Strand Theater on Lawson street, announces that he will close his house all of next week and will take out the old seats that have always been a hindrance to the progress of this otherwise pretty theatre and will replace them with elegant new seats of the latest design. They are large, comfortable and roomy, with deep curve back and full roll seat.

The lobby and interior will be touched up with the artist's brush and every thing made as bright as new. The picture machine booth has been increased in size to make another room for two machines that will project pictures that will be faultless for steadiness and brilliancy and the pure white screen used, renders the pictures soft and without eye strain.

The Strand will re-open on Monday, October 11th, with special pictures and a reinforced orchestra.

Fire Prevention Day Saturday, October 9

The Governor of Ohio has by proclamation directed all citizens to clean up their premises on Fire Prevention Day, Saturday, October 9.

The figures furnished by last year's fire statistics say "CLEAN UP!" in capitals. Half a million dollars would not make good the fire loss in Ohio from neglected rubbish during the last year. True, only 199 fires were caused by sparks from burning up rubbish on the premises to get rid of it, and only 27 are reported as from rubbish igniting.

But more than half of the loss of $917,658 reported as from flying sparks was from sparks lighting rubbish, and more than half the spontaneous combustion fires started in rubbish. Careless smokers burned up $268,330 worth, and most of these fires were from throwing cigar stubs or pipe ashes into rubbish. Children playing with matches or first cost $131,864 and in a majority of cases the blaze started in litter.
